When compared to the 282 institutions that participated in the Resident Survey, we scored above the mean in all the sub-factors except for one, Learning Outcomes: Diverse Interactions, which only fell three spots below the median. The results indicate an improvement since 2005 in the Overall Program Effectiveness. This confirms that the changes we are making have yielded positive results in performance.