Ms. Mary Ann Taccona
Interim Executive Director
Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics
Accreditation Council for Education in Nutrition and Dietetics
120 South Riverside Plaza, Suite 2000
Chicago, Illinois 60606-6995

Dear Ms. Taccona:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama's first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Barry A. Currier
Managing Director
ABA Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar
321 North Clark, Street, 21st Floor
Chicago, Illinois 60654

Dear Mr. Currier:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the American Bar Association the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Dr. Susan Zlotlow
Director
Office of Program Consultation and Accreditation
American Psychological Association
750 First Street, Northeast
Washington, DC 20002-4242

Dear Dr. Zlotlow:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the American Psychological Association the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama's first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master's degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Ms. Patrima L. Tice
Director of Accreditation
American Speech-Language-Hearing Association
2200 Research Boulevard
Rockville, Maryland 20850-3289

Dear Ms. Tice:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Dr. Jennifer Butlin
Executive Director
Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education
American Association of Colleges of Nursing
One Dupont Circle, NW Suite 530
Washington, DC 20036-1120

Dear Dr. Butlin:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the American Association of Colleges of Nursing the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama's first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master's degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Dr. Mary Reeves
Executive Director
The Commission on English Language Program Accreditation
801 North Fairfax Street, Suite 402A
Alexandria, Virginia 22314

Dear Dr. Reeves:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the Commission on English Language Program Accreditation the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Ms. Karen P. Moynahan
Executive Director
National Association of Schools of Art and Design
11250 Roger Bacon Drive, Suite 21
Reston, Virginia 20190-5248

Dear Ms. Moynahan:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the National Association of Schools of Art and Design the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of the University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Ms. Karen P. Moynahan
Executive Director
National Association of Schools of Dance
11250 Roger Bacon Drive, Suite 21
Reston, Virginia 20190-5248

Dear Ms. Moynahan:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the National Association of Schools of Dance the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama's first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master's degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full-time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Ms. Karen P. Moynahan
Executive Director
National Association of Schools of Music
11250 Roger Bacon Drive, Suite 21
Reston, Virginia 20190-5248

Dear Ms. Moynahan:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the National Association of Schools of Music the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
Ms. Karen P. Moynahan
Page 2
July 25, 2014

In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full-time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Ms. Karen P. Moynahan
Executive Director
National Association of Schools of Theatre
11250 Roger Bacon Drive, Suite 21
Reston, Virginia 20190-5248

Dear Ms. Moynahan:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the National Association of Schools of Theatre the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master’s degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution's full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President
Dr. James G. Cibulka
President
National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education
1140 19th Street, Suite 400
Washington, DC 20036

Dear Dr. Cibulka:

The University of Alabama is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, masters, education specialist, and doctoral degrees. The University is currently engaged in the process of review for the purpose of continued accreditation with SACSCOC. To confirm compliance with SACSCOC Principles of Accreditation Comprehensive Standard 3.13.1 Accrediting Decisions of Other Agencies, the institution is providing to the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education the following description of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama, located in Tuscaloosa, AL, was founded in 1831 as Alabama’s first public college. The University of Alabama is a member of The University of Alabama System and is governed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees elected from congressional districts and subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

The University of Alabama, a student-centered research university, includes the College of Arts and Sciences, Culverhouse College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communication and Information Sciences, College of Community Health Sciences, College of Continuing Studies, College of Education, College of Engineering, Graduate School, Honors College, College of Human Environmental Sciences, School of Law, Capstone College of Nursing, and School of Social Work. The University offers 72 undergraduate degree programs, 67 master's degree programs, six educational specialist programs, and 48 doctoral programs. The mission of the University is to advance the intellectual and social condition of the people of the State, the nation, and the world through the creation, translation, and dissemination of knowledge with an emphasis on quality programs of teaching, research, and service.
In 2013-14, The University of Alabama employed 1,252 full-time instructional faculty for a student-to-faculty ratio of 21:1. Of the institution’s full-time faculty, 48% were tenured and 84% held a terminal degree. In the fall of 2013, enrollment totaled 34,852, which included 29,443 undergraduates, 4,851 graduate students, and 558 professional students. Of the undergraduates, 90.2% were enrolled full time. Of the graduate and professional students, 56.3% were enrolled full-time. Of the undergraduates, 46% were male, 44.2% were from out of state, and 12.1% identified as African American. Of the graduate and professional students, 46.9% were from out-of-state and 13% identified as African American.

In 2013-14, annual full-time undergraduate tuition was $9,450 for residents and $23,950 for non-residents. Room and board costs were approximately $8,800. Total operating revenues for Fiscal Year 2012-13 were $659.9 million. Net operating revenues were $244 million, including $140.7 million from state appropriations. Total operating expenses were $800.7 million.

Thank you for your assistance and continued support of excellence in education at The University of Alabama.

Sincerely,

Judy Bonner
President