Dear Friends,

Thank you for your support of Alabama Athletics!

The 2011-12 academic/athletic year was like no other in the history of Alabama Athletics. For the first time in UA’s more than 120 years of athletics competition, Crimson Tide teams earned national championships in four sports – football, gymnastics, women’s golf and softball – and an SEC title in men’s golf.

The 2011-12 year truly was a special time for all of us that care deeply about the success of our University and our athletics program. It’s great for everyone nationally to see what many of us here have known for a while – that we have excellent people doing great work in a lot of areas. I am extremely pleased and proud of our success, but we cannot forget those who are most responsible for that – the student-athletes and coaches. We all work to help them reach their goals and be the best they can be.

Those titles earned the Crimson Tide the distinction of being the only school in the nation to win more than two NCAA team titles in 2011-12. Our overall success in 2011-12 reminds us that if you are truly committed to excellence, and back it up in tangible ways, that success follows. The challenge never ends. We are trying to be a national factor in every sport we compete in. I expect that and I won’t be truly satisfied until that is the case.

In 2011-12, our women’s athletics program earned its highest finish ever in the Capital One Cup standings, taking third place overall, just behind Stanford and UCLA. We finished sixth in the men’s standings. In addition to being third overall, Alabama’s women’s program was the top-ranked Southeastern Conference entry, with LSU and Florida coming in fourth and ninth.

Prior to the 2011-12 year, we had won 18 national team titles between football and gymnastics, but never more than one in an academic year. Our success this past year has clearly raised the bar of expectations to its highest level yet. We would have it no other way.

I hope that you will enjoy reading this Annual Report. The combination of our tremendous fan support, the intense devotion of our alumni, the talent and dedication of our high-quality student-athletes and the excellent mentoring and leadership of our coaches were key factors in our success.

It is my sincere hope and expectation that our success during the 2011-12 academic year not only serves as a source of pride in the present, but as motivation for achieving even greater things in the future.

Roll Tide!

The Alabama women’s golf team secured the school’s first national title in golf when the Crimson Tide posted a one-shot victory over Southern California in the 2012 NCAA Championships at Vanderbilt Legends Club in Franklin, Tenn. From 60 feet away, senior Brooke Pancake made a fantastic two-putt for par on the par-5 18th hole to secure Alabama’s first national championship outside of football and women’s gymnastics. It was the first national title for head coach Mic Potter in his 29 years as a coach in women’s college golf. Alabama led from wire-to-wire, and held an 11-shot lead over Virginia heading into the third round. After posting a 306 in the third round, the Tide led USC by two shots heading into the final day. Alabama posted a final round score of 294 to edge out the Trojans by one shot.

After making it to the College World Series for the eighth time in school history, the Alabama softball team finally captured its first national title by defeating the Oklahoma Sooners in the best of three series. After Oklahoma posted a 4-1 win over the Tide in the series opener, UA collected an 8-6 win to even the series, then capped off the historic season with a 5-4 win over the Sooners on June 6, 2012. Alabama trailed 3-0 before scoring four times in the fourth inning to take the lead in the deciding game. Jackie Traina, who was the winning pitcher for the Tide, delivered an RBI single to right field in the fifth inning for what ended up being the game-winning run. Oklahoma made it interesting in the top of the seventh inning as Lauren Chamberlain hit a solo home run to cut the Tide’s lead to 5-4. Traina then struck out national player of the year Keilani Ricketts to end the game.

MEN’S GOLF

For the second time in 60 years, the second-ranked Alabama men’s golf team swept both the team and individual titles at the SEC Men’s Golf Championship. The Crimson Tide finished with a 12-under-par 828 as a team on the par-70, 6,898 yard Seaside Golf Course at the Sea Island Golf Club. The 828 was the second-lowest team score in the history of the SEC Championship (827 by Georgia, 2006). Alabama freshman Justin Thomas won the third individual SEC crown for Alabama after carding rounds of 68, 67 and 68 to secure medalist honors. The Tide defeated Auburn by six strokes in the team race with a 2-over-par round of 282 on Sunday after shooting 272 and 274 in the opening two rounds. Auburn shot 277 Sunday to mount UA’s only challenge but finished at 6-under 834 for the tournament. Florida (+1, 841) was third with Georgia (+10, 850) fourth and Arkansas (+15, 855) in fifth.

- The Crimson Tide capped a remarkable season with a 21-0 shutout of the top-ranked LSU Tigers in the 2012 Allstate BCS National Championship Game in New Orleans’ Mercedes-Benz Superdome for the program’s 14th national title. The Crimson Tide smothered the Tigers’ offense, allowing just 92 total yards and only allowing them past midfield on one occasion. The Tide finished No. 1 in both the USA Today Coaches poll and the Associated Press poll. Alabama posted a 12-1 record with its only blemish coming in a 9-6 overtime defeat at the hands of LSU on Nov. 5, a loss that was avenged with a decisive BCS victory.

- The Crimson Tide posted four victories over top 25 teams and produced its second Heisman Trophy finalist in the last three years in running back Trent Richardson. But the lasting impression of Alabama’s 2011 squad will be a defense that will go down in college football annals as one of the best ever. The Tide defenders became just the second team (Oklahoma, 1986) in the modern era to lead the nation in total defense (183.6), scoring defense (8.2), rushing defense (72.2), passing defense (111.5) and pass efficiency defense (83.69). The Alabama defense gave up a mere nine touchdowns all season with two of those coming after turnovers set up a short field for the opponent. UA posted three shutouts (North Texas, Vanderbilt and LSU) and allowed only three touchdown drives of five plays or more all season.

- Alabama had seven players garner first-team All-American honors. Mark Barron, Barrett Jones and Trent Richardson were unanimous All-Americans while Dont’a Hightower was a consensus All-American. DeQuan Menzie, Dre Kirkpatrick and Courtney Upshaw also garnered first-team honors while William Vlachos was selected to the second team. Richardson won the Doak Walker Award as the nation’s top running back while Barrett Jones captured the Outland Trophy, which goes to the nation’s best interior lineman. Jones also won the ARA Sportsmanship Award and the Wuerffel Trophy. The Alabama football team was also recognized with the Disney Spirit Award for their efforts following the April 27, 2011, EF4 tornado that ripped through Tuscaloosa.
Head Coach Nick Saban
Alabama head coach Nick Saban (Kent State, 1973) concluded his fifth season with the Crimson Tide by becoming the first coach to win three BCS National Championships and the 10th coach in football history to win three national titles during a career. The school’s 27th head coach, Saban has compiled a 50-12 record (55-12 not including five vacated wins in 2007) at Alabama while leading the Tide to two SEC Western Division championships, one conference title and two national championships. Saban holds a career record of 141-54-1 (146-54-1) as a collegiate head coach, while also serving at Toledo, Michigan State and LSU. Saban is the only coach to win a BCS National Championship at two different schools.

One of the Winningest Senior Classes in History
Alabama’s 2011 senior class won a school-record 48 games over the past four seasons while losing only six contests. The 48 wins is tied for the second-most in college football history among BCS schools and tied for the best four-year total in Southeastern Conference history (Florida won 48 games from 2006-09). The previous Alabama record was 44 wins for the 1980 senior class that captured national titles in 1978 and 1979.

Academic Success
Alabama’s success on the field under the direction of head coach Nick Saban has also coincided with the Crimson Tide’s success in the classroom. The 2011 Crimson Tide began the season with 11 players having already earned degrees and following December graduation Alabama had 21 players with their degrees, including Brandon Gibson, who completed both his undergraduate (December 2010) and graduate (December 2011) degrees. Over the past four seasons (2008–11) the Crimson Tide has seen 54 players compete after having already graduated.

10-Win Seasons
With a win against Georgia Southern on November 19, Alabama reached the 10-win milestone for the fourth consecutive season (finished 12-1). The Tide now has 32 10-win seasons in 117 seasons, one behind Oklahoma (33) for the most 10-win seasons in college football. Alabama has had six 10-win seasons since 2002 (2002, 2005, 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011). Tide head coach Nick Saban is the 11th coach in school history to lead his team to a 10-win season. In addition, Saban is the fifth coach in school history to have more than one 10-win season.

Richardson Excelled Against the Best
Like former teammate Mark Ingram when he won the Heisman Trophy in 2009, junior tailback Trent Richardson made his mark by playing his best against the Crimson Tide’s top competition. He rushed for an average of 120.6 yards in five games against top 25 competition. Richardson faced nine of the nation’s top 50 defenses in 13 games in 2011, accounting for 14 total touchdowns, 951 rushing yards and 1,167 yards from scrimmage. He played nine defenses ranked in the top 47 nationally, including seven defenses in the top 27. No other 2011 Heisman Trophy contender played more than four games against defenses ranked in the top 50. The average rank in total defense Richardson faced was 37.4.

Disciplined Play
Alabama’s disciplined approach to football was evident in 2011 in its ability to play a clean football game. The Crimson Tide finished the year ranked third nationally in fewest penalties per game, being flagged an average of 3.8 times per game. The Tide also ranked second in fewest penalty yards, averaging 31.5 per contest. UA led the SEC in fewest penalties per game and in penalty yards per game.

Road Warriors
Alabama’s win at Auburn continued a trend of road success by the Crimson Tide in recent seasons. Including the win over the Tigers, Alabama has a 16-2 mark in true road games since 2008. In 25 games away from Tuscaloosa since 2008, Alabama is 21-4, including an 11-4 mark against ranked opponents.

In his 20th season as a college head coach, first-year UA coach Ed Allen posted an 11-20 record in 2011 to bring his career record to 505-203 (.713). Allen earned his 500th career victory with a 3-2 win over Penn on Sept. 10, 2011 in the Rocket Classic. In five seasons at Division I Tulsa (2006-10) he collected 133 wins, in three seasons at Division II Presbyterian College (2003-05) he had 94 wins and in 11 seasons at Division III Anderson University (1992-2002) he had 267 victories. Andrea McQuaid First Alabama Player With Multiple Triple-Doubles
Andrea McQuaid recorded the first Alabama triple-double since Oct. 1, 1999, when she had 13 kills, 29 assists and 17 digs against SMU on Sept. 3. McQuaid became the first player in school history with multiple triple-doubles when she had 13 kills, 23 assists and 21 digs against Penn on Sept. 10. She added her third triple-double of the season with 10 kills, 21 assists and 13 digs against Auburn on Oct. 30. Since the program restarted in 1989, McQuaid’s triple-double at SMU marked the fourth in the last 23 years and she is the only UA player... to have a triple-double with kills, assists and digs. Shelly Adamcik (1999), Nina Foster (1994) and Jennifer Miller (1992) had triple-doubles in kills, digs and total blocks.

Stephanie Riley Finishes Career In Bama’s Top-10 for Career Assists
After posting 46 assists against Mississippi State, senior setter Stephanie Riley had a team-high 652 assists in 2011 to bring her career total at Alabama to 1,942. Following a 16-assist performance against LSU on Oct. 21, Riley passed Nancy Woolsey (1979-81) for sixth all-time in assists at Alabama. Brigitte Slack (2004-07) is the school’s all-time leader in assists with 5,578.

Kayla Fitterer is a Double-Double Machine
Kayla Fitterer reached double digits in kills in 22-of-26 matches in 2011 and double-digits in digs 13 times. Her 13 double-doubles this season are the third most in the SEC, and brings the junior outside hitter’s total to 25 for her career. In 2011 she averaged 14.8 kills and 9.8 digs per match. She ranked third in the SEC and 39th in the country with 3.98 kills per set, while hitting .219 and averaging 2.62 digs per set.

Crimson Tide Players Named to All-Tournament Teams
After Alabama won the Hampton Inn Bama Bash championship, three UA players garnered all-tournament recognition. Kayla Fitterer was named the Most Valuable Player and Cortney Warren and Leigh Moyer were all-tournament selections. Following the conclusion of the Doubletree Invitational, Fitterer was selected to the all-tournament team. Fitterer made it a clean sweep when she was selected to the Rocket Classic All-Tournament squad, and was joined on the team by Warren.

SOPHOMORES LEAD TIDE AT NCAA MEET
Sophomores Alex Coci and BJ Hornikel qualified for the 2012 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships held in Seattle, Wash., as rookies on the national scene. They returned as All-Americans after leading the Crimson Tide to its first top-25 finish since 2009. Coci earned first-team All-American in the 200 butterfly and an honorable mention All-American in the 100 butterfly. He also shattered the school record in the 100 butterfly after posting a time of 46.50 in finals to become the first UA swimmer under 47 seconds in that event. Coci’s time of 1:43.36 in the finals of the 200 butterfly ranks him third all-time for the Crimson Tide, just ahead of Olympic gold medalist Jon Sieben. Hornikel earned honorable mention All-American honors in the 100 freestyle, the event he went undefeated in during the regular season for the second year in a row. He also posted a top-25 finish in the 200 freestyle in Seattle. He is second all-time for Alabama in both the 100 and 200 freestyles, just behind four-time Olympic gold medalist Jon Olsen.

TIDE 25TH AT NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS
Coci and Hornikel combined to score 22 team points, which was good for 25th place. Alabama’s men have now finished in the top 25 at the NCAA Championships 33 times since scoring its first points in 1973.

HORNIKEL EARN 2ND TEAM ALL-SEC
Sophomore BJ Hornikel earned second-team All-Southeastern Conference honors after picking up a pair of runner-up finishes in the SEC’s premiere events, the 100 and 200 freestyle. After turning in career-best times of 42.98 in the 100 freestyle and 1:34.81 in the 200 freestyle, Hornikel is ranked second all-time for Alabama in both events, just behind four-time Olympic gold medalist Jon Olsen.

Alabama won its sixth NCAA Championship, 27th NCAA Regional title and placed 2nd at SEC Championships in 2012.

Alabama clinched its sixth national championship on the last routine of the last event as senior Ashley Priess’ 9.95 on the balance beam gave Alabama a final score of 197.850 to put UA ahead of Florida by .075.

Alabama advanced four gymnasts to the individual title competition, including sophomore Diandra Milliner, junior Marissa Gutierrez and seniors Priess and Geralen Stack-Eaton.

Geralen Stack-Eaton won the balance beam NCAA title and earned first team All-American honors in the all-around while Priess was a second team honoree.

Stack-Eaton and Priess both earned first-team honors on the balance beam, Stack-Eaton earned first-team honors on the floor exercise, and both Milliner and Gutierrez were named first team All-Americans on the vault.

Sophomore Kim Jacob, Milliner and Gutierrez were named second team All-Americans on the floor exercise.

Jacob, sophomore Sarah DeMelo and freshman Kayla Williams earned second-team honors on the balance beam.

Junior Ashley Sledge, Stack-Eaton and Priess earned second team honors on the uneven bars.

National Champions
The Crimson Tide won its sixth national championship title, clinching the 2012 title with the last routine of the last event. Senior Ashley Priess’ 9.95 on the balance beam gave Alabama a final score of 197.850 and put them ahead of Florida by .075. Alabama is the only team since the Super Six Team Finals format was instituted in 1993, to win an NCAA title when finishing on the balance beam, having now done so twice, in 2012 and 2002. Alabama advanced four gymnasts to the individual title competition on Sunday, including sophomore Diandra Milliner, junior Marissa Gutierrez and seniors Priess and Geralen Stack-Eaton. Stack-Eaton added another individual NCAA title to her resume by winning the balance beam title. She won the individual title on the floor exercise at the 2011 championships. Although it is the Crimson Tide’s sixth national title, it marked the first time it has won back-to-back titles.

Geralen Stack-Eaton - NCAA Champion
Less than 24 hours after winning its sixth NCAA Team Championship and sixth overall, the Alabama gymnastics team extended its three-day dominance on the beam when senior Geralen Stack-Eaton won the individual NCAA Balance Beam Championship with a 9.9375. It was Stack-Eaton’s second individual NCAA title after winning the floor exercise in 2011. It was Alabama’s fifth individual national balance beam title and first since Andreé Pickens won the title in 1999. It was the Crimson Tide’s sixth national title, marking the first time it has won back-to-back titles.
Stack-Eaton was also second on the floor exercise after scoring a 9.9375.

2012 All-Americans

Senior Geralen Stack-Eaton earned first team All-American honors in the all-around while senior Ashley Priess was second team. Stack-Eaton and Priess both earned first-team honors on the balance beam. Stack-Eaton earned first-team honors on the floor exercise. Sophomore Diandra Milliner and junior Marissa Gutierrez were named first team All-Americans on the vault. Sophomore Kim Jacob, sophomore Diandra Milliner and junior Marissa Gutierrez were named second team All-Americans on the floor exercise. Jacob, sophomore Sarah DeMeo and freshman Kayla Williams earned second-team honors on the balance beam. Junior Ashley Sledge, Stack-Eaton and Priess earned second team honors on the uneven bars. Overall, eight UA gymnasts earned 16 All-American honors, led by four from Stack-Eaton which brought her career total to 12. Priess earned three honors in 2012, raising her career total to eight. A two-time All-American as a freshman, Jacob bumped her career total to four. Gutierrez and Milliner also earned two honors each this year, raising their respective overall totals to three. Sledge and DeMeo have now both earned two All-American honors for their career while Williams earned her first nod as a rookie.

Alabama at the NCAA Championships

The Alabama Gymnastics team made its 30th consecutive appearance at the NCAA Championships in 2012. Only Utah, with 31 bids, has been to more and only Florida has been to as many, though the Gator total is not consecutive. Alabama has won NCAA Championships six times, 2012, 2011, 2002, 1996, 1991 and 1988. The Tide is one of just four teams to win an NCAA title, joining UCLA, Utah and Georgia. In 30 championship appearances, Alabama has finished 1st six times, 2nd seven times, 3rd eight times and in the top six 28 times. Alabama won back-to-back NCAA titles for the first time in school history in 2011 and 2012. Alabama has won 23 NCAA Individual titles, including five all-around crowns. Tide gymnasts have earned 277 All-American honors. The 2012 season marked the first time that the championships were not held on a collegiate campus. In 2011, the championships were held at a school (Cleveland State) that does not sponsor gymnastics.

Attendance

- The Crimson Tide was among the national leaders in attendance among women’s athletics. Alabama, which averaged 12,826 fans per meet, was once again among the top three when it comes to women’s collegiate attendance, standing alongside Tennessee basketball and Utah gymnastics as the only programs to draw more than 11,000 fans per event this season. It was the Tide’s second highest average in school history.
- The Tide led the Southeastern Conference again, averaging 4,000 more fans per meet than Georgia and 6,000 more than Florida. The Tide’s mark includes two meets that drew more than 14,000 fans and two others that were over 12,000. The 2012 season marks the third year in a row that the UA gymnastics team has drawn four or more crowds over 12,000 fans. The Tide had a capacity turnout of 15,075 for its Power of Pink meet against Arkansas and 14,501 for its season opener against Georgia. A total of 12,457 fans braved stormy weather to see Alabama take on the Florida Gators while the Tide drew 12,936 fans for its Tornado Relief meet against Missouri on the first weekend of spring break.
- Alabama and Utah were the only two gymnastics teams in the nation with crowds over 11,000 this season, and the Tide had four. Alabama’s final home meet of the season, against North Carolina on the last weekend of UA’s spring break, drew 9,165 which would have been the largest crowd of the year for every team in the nation outside of Utah and Georgia.

- Only 13 of UA’s 33 opponents reached the 60-point mark in regulation in 2011-12 and five failed to score 50 points.
- Opponents converted on just 38.9 percent of their field goal attempts, the 16th lowest average in the nation, and scored just 58.1 points per game against UA, the ninth lowest average in the country.
- Alabama’s 72-66 win over Arkansas was its 500th win in Coleman Coliseum. The Tide owns an all-time record of 504-112 in the facility.

NCAA Tournament Appearance
Alabama returned to the NCAA Tournament as the No. 9 seed in the Midwest Region after a six-year hiatus to face the No. 8 seed, Creighton. The appearance marked the 19th for the Tide and its first under head coach Anthony Grant. It was the third appearance as a head coach for Grant as he became the fifth UA head coach to lead the program to the NCAA Tournament. Every member of UA’s coaching staff has participated in the NCAA Tournament as a coach while Director of Operations Antoine Pettway competed as player for UA in the 2002, 2003 and 2004 tournaments. Alabama was the No. 9 seed for the third time in program history.

Stifling Defense One of the Best in SEC History
Alabama’s 58.1 points allowed per game in 2011-12 ranks as the sixth-lowest recorded in the history of the SEC. One year earlier, UA allowed 59.4 points per game, the 10th lowest in SEC recorded history at the time. The team’s defensive scoring average was the best in the SEC since the adoption of the shot clock in 1985-86, as well as the best since the shot clock was shortened to 35 seconds in 1993-94. Of Alabama’s 33 opponents 11 scored their season low to date against the Tide. Only one SEC opponent, LSU, scored above its season average against the Tide, and that output came against a UA team depleted by four suspensions.

Getting to 70
Given the Tide’s relentless defense in 2011-12, scoring 70 or more points typically guaranteed a victory. UA scored 70 or more points nine times and won eight of those contests with the lone loss coming at eventual national champion Kentucky. Over the past two seasons, Alabama is 21-4 when scoring 70 or more points in a game. Conversely, when UA’s opponent reaches 70 points, the Tide was 0-3 in 2011-12 and 0-9 over the last two seasons.

Green Joins UA Legend Robert Horry
JaMychal Green left UA having etched his name across the UA record book after his stellar four-year career. He currently ranks in the top 15 all-time at UA in scoring, rebounds, blocks and steals. The only other UA player to achieve that feat is seven-time NBA Champion Robert Horry. Green scored 1,656 career points as one of just 11 players at UA to score 1,600 or more career points and the third active SEC player to reach the milestone. His season-high 22-point, 12-rebound double-double at UK pushed him past 1,500 career points at UA. That made him the 15th player in UA history to achieve the milestone and one of just six active SEC players that have scored 1,500 or more career points. Against Auburn he recorded his 25th career double-double, the most by an active SEC player and added his 26th in the next game against Mississippi. The following week he recorded No. 27 with a season-high 22 points and 10 rebounds in the SEC Tournament loss to Florida. He also led all active SEC players in rebounding with 912 career rebounds, the 11th most in UA history.

Strength through Adversity
Due to injuries, suspensions and coach’s decisions, the Crimson Tide used 13 different starting lineups during the 2011-12 season and eight in the last 12 games. Additionally, the Tide used 219 different five-man combinations on the floor over the course of the season. Perhaps most remarkably, the Tide weathered the mid-season suspensions of its top three scorers, leading assists man and top bench player.

Releford at the Point
Point guard Trevor Releford was a large reason for the Crimson Tide ranking in the top two in the SEC in steals during his sophomore season. Releford was second in the league in steals with 2.0 per game in 2011-12. In SEC games, he was even more active averaging 2.5 steals per game. The next closest defender, Arkansas’ Julysses Nobles, averaged 2.0 steals per game. Releford recorded five or more steals in a game three times in 2011-12 and twice in the last 10 games. Releford finished the season with 124 career steals to rank in the top 10 all-time at UA along with JaMychal Green. He had 64 steals in 2011-12 to exceed his total from the previous season and rank fifth all-time in single-season steals at UA with Latrell Sprewell.

Injuries Hindered Tide in 2011-12
The Crimson Tide had to deal with a series of injuries throughout the 2011-12 season, making game planning for both practices and games a challenge. Four of Alabama’s 11 active players, including Kyra Crosby, Jessica Merritt, Shafontaye Myers and Kristin Bush, logged a combined 28 missed games. Due to the injuries, and availability of certain players, the Tide started 13 different lineups throughout the season.

Ericka Russell Ends Standout Career
Senior Ericka Russell received a medical disqualification due to previous knee injuries, ending her career for the Crimson Tide on Jan. 17. A 5-7 guard from Tuscaloosa, Russell was a steady fixture in the Tide lineup since joining the squad in 2008. She started in all but 11 games throughout her career and became the 23rd member of Alabama’s 1,000 Point Club on Nov. 12, 2011, against Nicholls State. She earned Most Valuable Player honors at the 2011 Paradise Jam after averaging 17.7 points per game, including a season-high 29 against Old Dominion. Russell finished her career as one of the best three-point shooters in program history, ranking fourth in three-point field goals made (212) as well as three-point field goals attempted (709).

Russell Joins 1,000 Point Club
In the Tide’s season opener against Nicholls State, senior Ericka Russell notched the 1,000th point of her career at the Capstone. The milestone came at the 12:24 mark of the second half when Russell connected on a three-pointer to give her 11 points in the contest. She became the 23rd member, ironically the same number she wore on her jersey, of Alabama’s 1,000 Point Club.

ALABAMA HAS FOUR EASTON ALL-AMERICANS
The 2012 national champion Alabama softball team had four players named to Easton All-American teams. The Crimson Tide was also one of three teams that earned the Easton Team of the Year Award. Senior Amanda Locke (Mesquite, Texas.), sophomore Kaila Hunt (Evans, Ga.), and sophomore Jackie Traina (Naples, Fla.) were named to the Easton All-American first team, while senior Jennifer Fenton (Kennesaw, Ga.) was named to the second team. The All-American honors were the second of the postseason for all four players.

ALABAMA REACHES 60 WINS
Alabama finished with 60 wins in 2012, the first time the Crimson Tide has reached that mark since 2005. The 60 wins are the most for Alabama since 2008, and mark the third time the Crimson Tide has won at least 60 games. The .882 win percentage is the highest in school history.

SETTING RECORDS
Alabama broke numerous school records this season. Their .882 winning percentage is tops in school history, bettering the .825 winning percentage of the 2000 team. The Tide opened the season 36-1, which was also a school record. Alabama finished second in school history with 97 home runs, as well as second with 459 runs scored. Senior Jennifer Fenton set a national record in 2012 when she stole her 74th consecutive base without being caught. Senior Cassie Reilly-Boccia set a school record for walks with 180. Senior Kendall Dawson broke the school record for runners thrown out, when she threw out her 40th base runner against Florida. She ends her career with a record 43 runners thrown out. Jackie Traina set a school record with 42 wins on the season, as well as a single-season school record with 360 strikeouts.

ALABAMA IN THE 2012 WCWS
Alabama had four players named to the WCWS All-Tournament team. Jackie Traina was named the Most Outstanding Player after she went 5-1 and batted .400 (6-for-15) with a home run and six RBI. SEC WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS
Alabama clinched its fifth straight SEC Western Division title going into the final weekend of the regular season. The title is also Alabama’s eighth Western Division as well, pulling them into a tie for first with LSU, who has also won eight division titles. Alabama and LSU are the only two schools to ever win the Western Division since the SEC began play in 1997.

ALABAMA HAS SIX NFCA ALL-REGION SELECTIONS
The Alabama softball team tied a school record with six All-South Region first team accolades, the National Fastpitch Coaches Association (NFCA) announced. The six first team honors ties the 2009 team and was the most of any team in the country. No. 2 Arizona State, No. 3 Alabama, No. 7 Louisiana-Lafayette, No. 12 Oregon and No. 15 UCLA all placed six student-athletes on one of their respective region’s two teams. Alabama was the only team this year to place all six of its nominees on its respective region’s first team. Justin Thomas: National Player of the Year

Freshman Justin Thomas was selected as the winner of both the 2012 Nicklaus Award and the 2012 Haskins Award, an honor reserved for the nation’s top collegiate golfer. Thomas, a native of Goshen, Ky., is the first Crimson Tide golfer to win National Player of the Year honors.

Thomas got off to a quick start in his college career, claiming his first tournament the Carpet Capital Collegiate. He would go on to win three more times – the Puerto Rico Classic, SEC Men’s Golf Championship and NCAA Southeast Regional. Thomas finished tied for seventh at the NCAA Championships and collected four other top 10 finishes.

He finished outside of the top 20 only twice and was named the SEC Player and Freshman of the Year while posting a school-record 70.44 stroke average, nearly a stroke below par per round (-32, -.89 per round). He also set single-season school records for victories (four), counting scores (35) and winning percentage (91.5) while posting the second-most rounds (25) of par or better.

4 All-Americans

Alabama had four players garner All-America honors on the heels of the Crimson Tide’s runner-up finish at the 2012 NCAA Men’s Golf Championships. Justin Thomas was first-team selection by both Golfweek and the team released by PING and the National Golf Coaches Association while Cory Whitsett was a second-team choice in both Golfweek and PING. Bobby Wyatt was named a second-team All-American by Golfweek and Hunter Hamrick became a three-time All-American after Golfweek placed him on their honorable mention team.

Thomas Named Mickelson Award Winner
Justin Thomas was also named the winner of the Phil Mickelson Award presented by the Phil and Amy Mickelson Foundation as the most outstanding freshman in Division-I men’s golf. He was joined on the All-Freshman team by TCU’s Julien Brun, Cheng-Tsung Pan of Washington, Stanford’s Patrick Rodgers and Texas’ Jordan Spieth. Thomas is the first Alabama player to win the Phil Mickelson Award and becomes the third Crimson Tide golfer in the last four years to be named to the All-Freshman Team, joining Bud Cauley in 2009 and Cory Whitsett in 2011.

SEC Champions
For the second time in 60 years, the Alabama men’s golf team swept both the team and individual titles at the SEC Men’s Golf Championship. The Crimson Tide finished at 12-under-par 828 as a team on the par-70, 6,898 yard Seaside Golf Course at the Sea Island Golf Club. The 828 was the second-lowest team score in the history of the SEC Championship (827 by Georgia, 2006).

Alabama freshman Justin Thomas won the third individual SEC crown for Alabama after carding rounds of 68, 67 and 68 to secure medalist honors. Thomas joins an elite group of Crimson Tide golfers that have won an SEC Championship, including Bobby Hill (1952) and Michael Thompson (2008). Thomas finished the weekend at 7-under-par 203, which equals the lowest individual score to win SEC’s since it moved to Sea Island in 2001 (Florida’s Brett Stegmaier, 2003).

The Tide defeated Auburn by six strokes in the team race with Florida (+1, 841) third, Georgia (+10, 850) fourth and Arkansas (+15, 855) in fifth.

Bobby Wyatt was second at 5-under 205 while Cory Whitsett finished tied for 11th at 1-over 211. Senior captain Hunter Hamrick and junior Scott Strohmeyer also posted top-20 finishes, tying for 19th at 4-over-par 214.

NCAA Regional Champions
Alabama ran away from the field at the 2012 NCAA Athens Regional with a 25-shot victory on the par-71, 7,253-yard University of Georgia Golf Course. UA finished at 24-under-par 828 to secure Alabama’s 14th trip to the NCAA Championships and the sixth in the last eight years under head coach Jay Seawell. Freshman Justin Thomas overcame teammate Bobby Wyatt in the final round to capture medalist honors. Thomas shot 1-under par 70 in the final round for a 9-under-par total of 204. Wyatt carded 1-over 72 to finish at 8-under 205. Cory Whitsett gave the Tide a sweep of the top-three spots on the leader board with a 5-under-par 208.

Another Strong NCAA Tournament Showing
Alabama’s berth in the 2012 NCAA Championships marked the 14th finals appearance and the sixth in the last eight years under the leadership of head coach Jay Seawell. The runner-up finish also marked UA’s top finish in school history, besting the 1975 team that finished tied for third at the NCAA Championships.

Prior to the NCAA Tournament switching to regional format in 1991, the Crimson Tide made five NCAA Finals appearances in 1973-75, 1981 and 1983 under head coach Conrad Rehling. Alabama has 20 total appearances (regional and final) in the NCAA men’s golf tournament. Following Rehling’s last trip in 1983, Alabama didn’t make its return to the NCAA Finals until 1992 when Dick Spybey’s squad finished 11th. Following trips to the NCAA Finals in 1993 and again in 1996, UA would not return for another eight years until Seawell’s 2005 team advanced out of the East Regional. The 2007 season marked the beginning of five trips to the NCAA Championships in six years.

Jay Seawell
Head Coach Jay Seawell has transformed Alabama in to perennial contender in his 10 years at the Capstone. Since taking the Crimson Tide to an NCAA Regional during his first year, 2003, Alabama has made nine regional appearances in the last 10 years, including eight straight. UA also made its sixth NCAA Championships appearance in the last eight years (2005, 07-09, 11-12). Alabama’s runner-up finish in 2012 was the best under Seawell’s leadership, besting a sixth-place finish in 2007. His teams have won 25 tournament titles over the last 10 years, including the 2008 and 2012 SEC Championships and the 2009 and 2012 NCAA Regional titles. UA won a school-record six times in 2007-08, won five more tournaments in 2010-11 and had five tournament victories in 2011-12, including five of the last eight spring events.

Alabama rowers Erika Baranek, Tabitha Coleman, Jessica Parker, Canella Tinker and Stephanie Varner earned Collegiate Rowing Coaches Association Scholar-Athlete Award, which requires a rower to maintain a 3.5 grade-point average for her career, be at least a sophomore in eligibility, and have competed in 75 percent of the team’s spring races.

Duo Named to Conference All-Academic Team
Two student-athletes were named to the 15-member 2012 Conference USA All-Academic Team for women’s rowing, as voted on by the league’s sports information directors. Senior Stephanie Varner was a unanimous selection for the second year in a row while junior Canella Tinker made her debut on the All-Academic squad. It marked the third year in a row that the Crimson Tide has placed multiple athletes on the list. Alabama has had eight selections to the All-Academic squad, which ties them with Kansas and Oklahoma for the most honorees in the award’s three-year history.

Seven Rowers Earn Conference USA Commissioner’s Academic Medal

Seven Alabama rowers earned the Conference USA Commissioner’s Academic Medal, which requires a cumulative grade point average of 3.75, including Logan O’Neil, Stephanie Varner, Canella Tinker, Brennan Glynn, Melissa Jenkins, Kristen Hickman and Caitlin O’Neil.

23 Rowers Named to Conference USA Commissioner’s Honor Roll

A total of 23 members of the Alabama rowing team earned a place on the Conference USA Commissioner’s Honor Roll, which requires student-athletes to maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better. The Tide’s honorees, which account for more than half of the Tide’s 2011-12 roster, included: Ashley Allison, Erika Baranek, Brittney Bebek, Emily Chadwell, Mary Christopher, Tabitha Coleman, Alyssa Drevenak, Melissa Etter, Ali Fabbro, JJ Fadely, Brennan Glynn, Kristen Hickman, Kristen Iverson, Melissa Jenkins, Caroline Lendl, Logan O’Neil, Caitlin O’Neil, Emily Osborne, Jessica Parker, Mariah Styer, Leigh Terch, Canella Tinker and Stephanie Varner.

Track and Field Has Four Earn All-America Honors

The Crimson Tide earned three first-team All-America honors at the 2012 NCAA Outdoor Track & Field Championships and a second team honoree as well. Of the five UA competitors that qualified for the NCAA Championships, four returned home... as All-American, three of them for the first time. Sophomore Kamal Fuller picked up his first outdoor All-America accolade with his eighth-place finish in the men’s long jump of 25-2. Junior Alexis Paine collected her first All-America title by finishing eighth in the women’s pole vault with a school record height of 13-9.25 while Krystle Schade earned her third outdoor and sixth overall All-America honor by finishing fourth in the women’s high jump with an outdoor personal best clearance of 6-1.50. Tide Gets Two First Team Academic All-Americans

Seniors Nathan Corder and Leigh Gilmore were named first team Capital One Academic All-Americans. The honor was the third Academic All-America selection for Corder and the second first-team accolade. He recorded a perfect 4.0 grade point average in mathematics. Gilmore is a civil engineering major that graduated with a perfect 4.0 GPA. Gilmore was also named the Davis SEC Community Service Leader of the Year.

Individually, the women’s program had four student-athletes earn All-Academic status from the organization in Camilla Armstead, Amethyst Holmes, Alexis Paine and Krystle Schade. The men’s program was represented on the All-Academic team by Kamal Fuller. 2011 SOCCER HIGHLIGHTS

- Finished the 2011 season with a 10-9-3 record, the team’s first winning season since 2003.
- Earned its second postseason NCAA tournament berth in program history and its first since 1998.
- The Tide has now finished .500 or better in three of the four seasons under head coach Todd Bramble.

NCAA Tournament
The Alabama soccer team made its first appearance in the NCAA Tournament since 1998 and just for the second time in program history. The Crimson Tide capped off its season with a 3-2, double-overtime loss against Miami in the first round.

SEC Tournament Recap
The eighth-seeded Crimson Tide faced off against Southeastern Conference regular season champions South Carolina in the quarterfinal round of the tournament and earned a thrilling, 1-0 win over the Gamecocks to become the first team to down the No. 1 seed in the tournament since 2002. Molly Atherton’s first half goal held up as Justine Bernier recorded her seventh shutout of the season. In the semifinal round, the Tide went up early on the Florida Gators, 1-0, on a Pia Rijsdijk goal, but just 40 seconds later UF responded to tie the score. Florida then buried the game-winner in the 81st minute. The semifinal appearance was just the third for Alabama in program history.

Rijsdijk named NSCAA All-South Region
Freshman forward Pia Rijsdijk (Numansdorp, Netherlands) was named to the NSCAA All-South Region third team as announced by the organization this week. Rijsdijk was one of only five freshmen to earn the honor. In just her first season in the states and at the Capstone, the newcomer helped lead a Crimson Tide squad to its first NCAA tournament appearance since 1998. Rijsdijk finished second on the team with 14 points on five goals and four assists. Her five goals and four assists were also second best on the team. During conference play, the Netherlands international was second on the team with nine points on three goals and three assists. Rijsdijk was a key contributor for the Tide down the stretch as seven of her points came in the last month of the season. She ranked second on the team with two game-winners, including a thrilling tally against then No. 24 Tennessee. On top of the all-region honors, Rijsdijk was named to the SEC All-Freshman team and also earned SEC Freshman of the Week and Collegesoccer360.com Primetime Performer of the Week honors, both for week 10 of the season.

3 Earn All-SEC Honors
The Alabama soccer team garnered three All-Southeastern Conference accolades, the league office announced Monday. Senior goalkeeper Justine Bernier (Oakville, Ontario, Canada) was named to the second team while Pia Rijsdijk (Numansdorp, Netherlands) and Theresa Diederich (Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.) nabbed all-freshmen team honors. This marks the third time Alabama has earned three All-SEC honors in the same season, tying last year and the 2004 season for the most in school history. With the second team selection, Bernier becomes the only Tide player in program history.

NSCAA Team Academic Award
For the third consecutive season, the Alabama soccer team garnered recognition for its work in the classroom as the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) named the Crimson Tide to its College Team Academic Award list. To be eligible a team must have a cumulative grade point average above 3.0 for the 2009-10 academic year. The NSCAA announced that a total of 789 soccer teams (218 men, 571 women) posted a team grade point average of 3.0 or higher, thereby earning the NSCAA Team Academic Award for the 2010-11 academic year. Alabama had 11 players earn academic honors for the 2010 season, and the announcement of the 2011 honor roll will be made following the conclusion of the 2011 fall semester.
Tough Slate

Head coach Todd Bramble put together a tough schedule in 2011 and it was one of the reasons the Tide was able to make the NCAA tournament. The Tide has eight teams on its schedule that are in the top 50 in the RPI, and have played 11 teams that made the field of 64. Also, Alabama has played five teams that were ranked in the regular season. The Tide earned its first win over a ranked opponent since 1999 (SDSU, 1-0, Sept. 4) and after the 1-0 win against No. 24 Tennessee, defeated two ranked opponents in the same season for the first time in school history. The SEC Tournament victory over No. 19 South Carolina was the Tide’s third victory over a ranked opponent in 2011. The last time the Tide defeated a ranked opponent before the three this season was in the opening match of the 1999 season, when the Tide downed No. 19 Vanderbilt, 2-1, in overtime on Aug. 27 in Tuscaloosa.

Just as The University of Alabama enjoyed a seminal season in the athletic arena, the Crimson Tide’s student-athletes were just as impressive in the academic realm. Alabama’s more than 525 student-athletes averaged over a 3.0 grade point average for the 2011-12 academic year, including 48 that maintain a career GPA of 4.0. Overall, for the second year in a row, five teams posted cumulative GPAs above 3.5.

More than 140 student-athletes earned their degrees during the 2011-12 academic year. The latest numbers find that Alabama graduates 74 percent of its student-athletes while the general student population graduates at a rate of 66 percent.

There were 21 graduates on Alabama football’s roster when it won the 2011 national championship, one shy of the BCS National Championship Game record the Crimson Tide set in 2009. Football also had the second highest graduation rate among schools in the final 2011 BCS top 10 and has posted the second highest graduation rate in the SEC each of the past three years.

The Southeastern Conference led the nation in Capital One Academic All-American honors again this year and the Crimson Tide once again led the SEC, tallying a school record nine honors overall, including a league best seven first-team honors. Since 2000, Alabama is fifth among NCAA Division I schools and first in the SEC when it comes to Academic All-American honors with 70. The Tide’s nine honors in 2012 also pushed Alabama over 100 honors all-time, to a total of 106, which jumps Alabama to 20th all-time among all NCAA schools and 13th among Division I schools.

Leading the way among the Crimson Tide’s Academic All-American honors was senior Brooke Pancake, who led Alabama to its first NCAA Championship in women’s golf in May. The Chattanooga, Tenn., native was named the 2012 NCAA Division I Female Capital One Academic All-America of the Year, marking the first time a Crimson Tide student-athlete has earned that honor.

Kayla Hoffman, who closed out her tenure at the Capstone by leading Alabama to the 2011 NCAA Gymnastics Championship, capped her stellar career by earning the prestigious NCAA Top VIII award in January 2012. The award is given annually to the top eight senior student-athletes among all NCAA sports, regardless of division or gender, for their accomplishments in athletics, academics and in the community. She is the 10th Alabama student-athlete and the seventh over the last decade to earn the honor, which is considered the highest individual honor the NCAA bestows on a student-athlete.

The SEC also led the nation in NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and NCAA Elite 89 recipients in 2012 with Alabama again leading the league in both categories. The Tide’s five 2012 scholarship winners ranks second in the nation, just behind Stanford. Pancake, swimmer Kyle Weeks, tennis player Taylor Lindsey along with cross country runners Nathan Corder and Leigh Gilmore all earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships.

Mary Anne Macfarlane (tennis), Rachel Terry (gymnastics) and Cory Whitsett (golf) earned The NCAA’s Elite 89 accolade during the 2011-12 academic year. The NCAA Elite 89 is awarded to the athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average at each NCAA Championship. Alabama ranks second nationally in Elite 89 honors with seven in the award’s first three years while Stanford leads the nation with 10.

On a conference level, five Alabama student-athletes were named SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for their respective sports, including Barrett Jones (football), Jennifer Fenton (softball), Kim Jacob (gymnastics), Courtney McLane (women’s Tennis) and Brooke Pancake (women’s golf). All four of the teams that won national championships in 2011-12 had an athlete named the league’s top scholar for that sport. McLane won the award for the second time and Pancake earned the honor for an SEC record third time.

Alabama was also prolific when it came to the SEC Academic Honor Roll, earning the accolade 246 times during the 2011-12 academic year. The Crimson Tide had 56, 48 and 87 student-athletes named to the SEC Fall, Winter and Spring Academic Honor Rolls and 55 named to the First-Year Academic Honor Roll. Alabama football had 38 players named to the SEC Fall Academic Honor Roll in 2011 – a conference record for the sport.

The University of Alabama’s Graduation Success Rate (GSR) score rose to an 82 in 2012, once again exceeding acceptable standards for completion of undergraduate studies nationally for the period covering student-athletes who attended the University during 2001-04, according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).
“We continue to improve in terms of the Graduation Success Rate, and I believe that is a testament to the hard work of our student-athletes, academic staff and faculty,” said Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore. “This is also further evidence of the dedication of our student-athletes and the commitment of our coaches, staff and faculty to our academic mission. I commend everyone involved for consistently doing such an excellent job.”

Four of Alabama’s 20 intercollegiate athletic programs in existence at the time – women’s golf, women’s soccer, women’s softball and women’s tennis – once again achieved perfect scores of 100, while 11 of Alabama’s programs recorded a GSR score of at least 80. Overall, seven UA teams had a GSR score of 90 or higher.

The Crimson Tide was third overall in the Southeastern Conference, where Vanderbilt led the way with a 92 and Florida was just a point ahead of Alabama with an 83. The Tide’s defending NCAA Champion softball and women’s golf teams both lead the league with perfect GSR scores of 100 again this year. Alabama’s soccer and women’s tennis teams also led the SEC again this year with perfect 100 GSR scores.

The Tide’s men’s swimming and diving team and women’s track and field and cross country program were both second in the SEC with a score of 93 and 95, respectively.

The GSR measures graduation rates at Division I institutions and includes transferring into the institutions. The GSR also allows institutions to subtract student-athletes who leave their institutions prior to graduation as long as they would have been academically eligible to compete had they remained.

The NCAA GSR and the Academic Success Rate (ASR) were developed in response to college and university presidents who wanted graduation data that more accurately reflected the mobility among college students today. Both rates improve on the federally mandated graduation rate by including students who were omitted from the federal calculation.

The women’s golf and tennis teams were joined by 2012 NCAA Champion softball team (993), the back-to-back NCAA Champion gymnastics team (991) as well as the NCAA runner-up men’s golf team (993) among UA programs with scores above 990. The Tide’s women’s swimming and diving (985), men’s basketball (984), volleyball (983), soccer (982), baseball (980), men’s swimming and diving (980) and men’s tennis (980) team’s all posted scores of 980 or better.

The Tide’s national champion football team’s APR continues to rise, going to 970 in 2012, 22 points higher than the national football average. The men’s basketball team moved up to a 984 four-year mark, which puts them 34 points above the national average for men’s basketball.

“Once again, our APR report was very positive,” Associate Athletic Director for Student Services Jon Dever said. “We had two sports earn perfect scores of 1,000 and all 21 teams were at least 30 points above the 925 mark, including 14 teams that bettered that mark by 50 points or more. There were 12 teams which improved their four-year scores from a year ago. In addition to that, seven of our teams, including football, men’s basketball and baseball, bettered the national average for their sport by 15 points or more.”

The secret behind academic success for Alabama student-athletes is Alabama’s Center of Athletic Student Services (CASS), headed by Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever. From the moment a recruit first walks on to the campus to the moment a student-athlete graduates with diploma in hand, comprehensive academic service is available.

For the first year at the Capstone, freshman and junior college transfers are required to attend nightly study halls. After that, the attendance is based on the individual’s GPA and study needs. The CASS staff works as a liaison between the athletic department and the University’s undergraduate divisions and administrative office. The CASS staff offers career advice and counseling, ensures that all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward a degree, and monitors academic eligibility. Academic coordinators supervise tutorial services, schedule study sessions, and coordinate all other aspects of CASS’s academic enrichment program.

All of these services begin with the recruit’s first visit. The advisors set up individual appointments within the department of the recruit’s area of study and accompany the prospect to the meeting. They give the recruit a tour of the campus and summarize services provided by CASS. Alabama’s CASS staff will provide student-athletes with every opportunity to achieve their highest goals.

CHAMPS/Life Skills
In 1994, the Division 1A Directors’ CHAMPS program and the NCAA Life Skills program joined forces to become the CHAMPS/Life Skills program. The program focuses on five commitments that help student-athletes not only achieve present success but help facilitate future accomplishments. CHAMPS/Life Skills focus on academic excellence, athletic excellence, personal growth, career development and community service. The University of Alabama CHAMPS/Life Skills program offers a variety of programs geared toward each of these five commitments.

Academic Excellence
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program focuses on supporting student-athletes in all aspects of their academic success.
University of Alabama student-athletes have the best resources at their fingertips in Alabama’s Center of Athletic Student Services (CASS), located in Bryant Hall.

Athletic Excellence
From top-notch facilities to a highly qualified staff, student-athletes are provided the tools needed to compete at the highest level.

Personal Growth
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program helps student-athletes gain the skills they need to balance academic and athletic commitments, make critical life decisions and become well-rounded individuals. At The University of Alabama, the CHAMPS/Life Skills program and SAAC work together to bring in workshops and speakers to help guide student-athletes in this process.

Career Development
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program is dedicated to helping student-athletes after their academic and athletic careers at The University of Alabama are finished. The ultimate goal of this component is to help student-athletes identify and work towards their future career goals.

Community Service
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program focuses on facilitating community outreach opportunities for student-athletes. This aspect gives Alabama athletes a chance to make a difference and show their gratitude to the local communities that support them throughout their careers.

About the Student Athletic Advisory Committee
The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is dedicated to promoting and maintaining student-athlete well-being, academic excellence, personal development and community involvement. SAAC’s is a voice for Alabama’s student-athletes while they strive to achieve greatness in the classroom, playing fields and throughout the community. The SAAC program wants every student-athlete’s experience at The University of Alabama to be successful and personally rewarding.

Events
Every year the SAAC works to involve student-athletes in numerous events that help the community. Past events have included supporting Alabama’s “Relay for Life” Campaign, a Halloween Extravaganza party for local children, the “Light up the Night” fundraiser for breast cancer research and Project Angel Tree. In addition to these special events, student-athletes regularly visit local schools to help with special events, physical education classes and reading initiatives.

Sports Medicine

VISION STATEMENT
The University of Alabama Sports Medicine Program provides injury prevention, care and rehabilitation services and athletic education of recognized excellence to every student-athlete. The program is committed to becoming a national leader in sports medicine services.

MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of The University of Alabama Sports Medicine program is to provide the highest quality healthcare available to our student-athletes in a professional and caring manner in order to prevent athletic injury. Should an injury or illness occur, it is our mission to recognize and refer the student-athlete to the appropriate medical care returning them to competition as quickly and safely as possible.

Football’s Barrett Jones Wins 2011 Wuerffel Award

Standing 6 feet, 5 inches tall, weighing 311 pounds, it’s tough to miss Alabama offensive lineman Barrett Jones. The versatile All-American is widely lauded as one of the best players in the country for his play on the field. But his work off the field – both in the classroom and in the community – is often overlooked. It certainly wasn’t unnoticed by the All Sports Association as that organization named Jones the winner of the 2011 Wuerffel Trophy. The award, named after former Florida quarterback Danny Wuerffel, is presented annually to the Football Bowl Subdivision player that best combines exemplary community service with academic and athletic achievement. Jones, an accounting major who graduated in August with a 4.0 grade-point average, is working towards a master’s degree in accounting. The All-SEC lineman and 2011 Outland Trophy winner is extremely active in the community as well. Jones has made two mission trips to Haiti to help people struggling with daily life and to help build a school and orphanage. He has actively participated in tornado cleanup in Tuscaloosa and worked with countless other community organizations in his time at Alabama.
Gilmore Named 2011-12 Davis SEC Community Service Leader of the Year
Leigh Gilmore of the cross country and track and field teams was the women’s recipient of the 2011-12 Brad Davis Southeastern Conference Community Service Leaders of the Year Award. To go along with the recognition, Gilmore received a $10,000 post-graduate scholarship provided by the SEC. Gilmore earned a cumulative 4.0 grade-point average during her college career at the Capstone. She was a member of the National Society of Collegiate Scholars as well as the UA’s President’s List and Honors Program. A member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, she was named the Capstone Engineering Society Department of Civil Engineering Most Outstanding Senior for 2011-12. She was also a member of the Phi Eta Sigma and Lambda Sigma Honor Societies. She volunteered with Athletes in Action; Big Sisters, Little Sisters; and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Gilmore served as a camp counselor in addition to traveling to Haiti to assist in an orphanage and an underprivileged school.

Halloween Extravaganza
Sponsored by The University of Alabama Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC), the Alabama Athletics Department annually conducts a Halloween Extravaganza in the Crimson Tide’s Indoor Football Practice Facility. The Halloween Extravaganza is a night for children of the West Alabama community to dress up and play games with some of their favorite Alabama student-athletes. Each Alabama team hosts different games and activities at the event. The event is open to children 13 and under and their families and admission is free.

Project Angel Tree
Annually, University of Alabama student-athletes welcome local children to Coleman Coliseum for the Athletics Department and the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee’s Project Angel Tree event. The student-athletes donate money, shop for and wrap Christmas gifts for more than 50 local children. All Crimson Tide’s athletics teams participate in the outreach project. The 2011 event marked the 20th consecutive year that Alabama Athletics has participated in Project Angel Tree, making it one of the longest tenured groups in the state.

Department Community Service Hours
Throughout the course of the 2011-12 academic year, Crimson Tide student-athletes gave more than 4,000 hours toward community services projects. The swimming team was the women’s squad with the most community outreach hours, while men’s basketball earned the honor for the men. Individually, football’s Nico Johnson and track and field’s Amethyst Holmes were recognized by the University for their outstanding service to the community.
FACILITIES

Bryant-Denny Stadium
Bryant-Denny Stadium is quickly becoming one of the most prominent college football venues in the nation. Located on the southwestern edge of The University of Alabama campus, the history-laden stadium ranks among the nation’s top 5 on-campus football stadiums with a seating capacity of 101,821 after completion of the latest expansion in the summer of 2010.

Rhoads Stadium
The John and Ann Rhoads Softball Stadium was built in 2000 and recently received enhancements that make the nation’s most packed college softball venue an imposing site for visiting teams. That stadium, completed at a cost of $2.2 million, added right field tier seating to push stadium capacity past the 3,000 mark. The stadium was expanded for the third time in its short history following 2011 season, which brought the official capacity to 3,940. During the 2009 season, tier seating in the right field corner was added along with a standing room concourse area that includes tables and drink rails. After the completion of the 2010 season, construction began on an expanded clubhouse that will feature a new locker room, expanded training room and player’s lounge, a new team video room and lobby. The expanded clubhouse will connect to the new indoor practice facility that will include three batting cages and a bullpen.

Sewell-Thomas Stadium
Sewell-Thomas Stadium is the home field of The University of Alabama baseball team. The stadium opened as Thomas Field on March 26, 1948, in honor of former Tide head coach Frank Thomas. The stadium originally had a seating capacity of 2,000. In 1978, the stadium was renamed Sewell-Thomas Stadium, adding the name of former UA baseball standout and head coach Joe Sewell, who spent 14 years with the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees during his Hall of Fame baseball career. Currently referred to by many as “The Joe”, Sewell-Thomas Stadium has been the home of Alabama’s baseball team for 62 years, but has undergone many changes. The complex has undergone two major renovations in 1996 and again in 2001. A video board was added in 2007. The most recent additions came during the 2010 season as the Crimson Tide clubhouse, meetings rooms, coaches locker rooms and team room were completely renovated, giving Alabama one of the finest clubhouses in college baseball. In addition to the expanded clubhouse, meeting rooms and team rooms, the hallways and walls are lined with murals, depicting the deep history of Crimson Tide baseball.

Coleman Coliseum
The center of much of University of Alabama campus life since the facility opened in 1968, Coleman Coliseum is home to
AnnuAl RepoR t 2011-2012

Alabama men’s basketball. Opened on January 30, 1968, and originally named Memorial Coliseum, Coleman Coliseum has served as the home court of the Alabama basketball team for 42 years and the women’s gymnastics team since 1985. One of college basketball’s finest facilities then and now, the multi-purpose arena was ahead of its time when originally constructed at a cost of $4.2 million. The building occupies two acres of land with the roof reaching 90 feet above the playing surface and almost 100,000 square feet of space in the main seating area. The arena was re-dedicated in 1988 as Coleman Coliseum in honor of Jeff Coleman, a long-time Crimson Tide historian, business manager for athletics and alumni director that served on the committee that oversaw construction and planning of the Coliseum. The coliseum houses athletic department offices (except for football, swimming, rowing and men’s tennis), the ticket and Tide Pride offices, a club level room (the Crimson Tide Room), a President’s reception area (the C.M. Newton Room), an auxiliary gymnastium, an equipment room, weight rooms, steam bath, training room, food service areas, photo studios, and locker room facilities for staff and athletes.

Foster Auditorium
The University of Alabama Athletics Department renovated and expanded Foster Auditorium to create a new home for the Crimson Tide’s volleyball and women’s basketball programs, beginning in 2011. The remodel of Foster included refurbishing the arena portion of the building with new seating both on the floor level and the second level which overlooks the court, creating an impressive competitive atmosphere for both sports. The restoration of the venerable three-story building was completed in January of 2011 in time for the women’s basketball game between Alabama and Florida on Feb. 13, 2011, when the Tide defeated the Gators 64-59. The renovation also included suites for both programs that house the teams’ locker rooms, team areas, meeting and video rooms and coaches’ offices. A weight room and athletics training facilities were also included in the project. Originally built in 1939, Foster Auditorium was named in 1942 for Richard Clarke Foster, president of The University of Alabama from 1937-41. It was the largest and most expensive of 14 buildings added to campus between 1936 and 1939 using funds from the Public Works Administration.

UA Tennis Complex
Alabama tennis student-athletes have the privilege of playing in one of the finest facilities in the country as the Alabama Tennis Stadium was one of nine winners of the 25th Annual USTA Facility Awards Program. The outdoor complex, built in 2004, features 12 hard courts with overhead seating for 2,000 spectators that faces all courts. The $4.2 million facility houses a team lounge with a flat screen television and couches, a conference room, coaches’ offices, player locker rooms with private restrooms and showers, a full-service athletic training room and a concession stand with kitchen. In addition, the facility contains an elevator from the first level up to the seating area. Not only is this complex conducive to the highest level of competitive play, it is also a terrific place for hosting school and community tournaments, with amenities for spectators and visiting teams.

Roberta Alison Baumgardner Indoor Tennis Facility
In 2012, the tennis complex expanded even more with the addition of the Roberta Alison Baumgardner Tennis Facility, which houses six indoor courts. Located adjacent to the outdoor stadium, the Roberta Alison Baumgardner Tennis Facility features a lobby, restrooms and overhead seating above the courts in addition to seating at court level. The addition of the indoor will not only provide a facility for the teams to compete during inclement weather, but it also will benefit Alabama when submitting bids to host events such as the NCAA Championship.

Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium
The venue of many historic meets, the Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium is a nine-lane oval, with each lane measuring 48-inches wide. The facility, boasting one of the premier track surfaces in track and field today and seating for up to 4,500 spectators, has dual direction runways for long jump, triple jump and pole vault with at least 155-feet for approaches. The east/west direction runways are designed to create the best win conditions. The shot put, discus and hammer throw circles are brushed concrete and are highlighted in the track infield. In 2006, the stadium underwent renovation as Beynon Sports Surfaces replaced the competition surface with its BSS 2000 surface. The BSS 2000 surface is the premier track surface in track and field today.

The outdoor track facility was first designed in 1975 by Gasner-Nathan-Brown Architects and was constructed by the N.C. Morgan Company. The facility was designed with both participant and spectator in mind. The primary surface was a nine-lane AstroTrack surface by Monsanto and featured 48-inch lanes with extra width in the turns. Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium has played host to a variety of championship meets throughout the years, including the 2007 SEC Championships, the 2006-08 SIAC Championships and the 1997-03 AHSAA Track and Field Championships. Annually, the facility is home to the Alabama Relays.

UA Soccer Complex
The University of Alabama Soccer Stadium was built in 2004. It houses a team lounge complete with a flat-screen television and couches, a conference room, coaches’ offices, student-athlete locker rooms with private restrooms and showers, a full-service athletic training room and a concession stand with a kitchen. In addition, the facility is equipped with a pair of locker rooms for visiting teams and officials. The outdoor complex features covered bench areas for both teams and a press box with seating for 1,500 spectators and standing room for many more.

Alabama Aquatic Center and Don Gambril Olympic Pool
One of the nation’s “fastest” pools, the Alabama Aquatic Center has, during the past 30 years, hosted more than 200 major competitions including seven Southeastern Conference Swimming & Diving Championships. The Crimson Tide has built an impressive reputation for winning in the Aquatic Center. Since the facility opened in 1981, the Crimson Tide men’s team has only lost a handful of home dual meets. Two of the three SEC Championships the Tide won in the decade of the 1980s (men’s titles in 1982 and 1987) were won in the Aquatic Center. The Tide is tough to beat at home - and the Aquatic Center is part of the reason why. A

MARKETING & LICENSING

The impact and influence of athletics marketing has never been more evident than in the current era of Alabama athletics. Alabama’s passionate fan base has largely earned a national reputation for devotion based on its following of the Crimson Tide football team.

In recent years, that devotion and passion has become evident in athletics competition outside of Bryant-Denny Stadium as home attendance at the Tide’s seven sports that require tickets for admission (football, men’s basketball, women’s basketball, baseball, softball, gymnastics and volleyball) exceeded $1.2 million in the 2011-12 athletic year.

Alabama’s national champion softball team led the nation in attendance with an average of 2,474 fans per game. The national champion Crimson Tide football team sold out all seven home games during the 2011 season as 712,747 fans packed Bryant-Denny Stadium (capacity: 101,821). The national champion Alabama gymnastics team averaged 12,826 fans per meet while selling out Coleman Coliseum for its clash with fifth-ranked SEC foe Arkansas on February 17 and posting a near-sellout of 14,501 on Jan. 13 against Georgia.

Alabama athletics events provide the Tuscaloosa community and the state at large with consistent family-friendly attractions. Sports events at the Capstone are known for their exciting atmosphere at affordable prices.

CRIMSON TIDE REWARDS PROGRAM
Completing its second year, the Crimson Tide Rewards program presented by Tuscaloosa Toyota allowed fans the opportunity to win great prizes, including Alabama gear, exclusive fan experiences and even a new car! Members earned points for each athletic event they attend.

5TH GRADE FAST BREAK
The University of Alabama women’s basketball program, the Alabama Consortium for Educational Renewal (ACER), and the Tuscaloosa City and County elementary schools continue the partnership started in 2007-08 to provide athletically related educational initiatives for local 5th graders. The goal continues to be that the 5th Grade Fastbreak program be an annual event highlighted by the 5th Grade Fastbreak Game of the Year. The goal is to engage Tuscaloosa 5th graders in educational initiatives based on Alabama women’s basketball that will begin in the fall semester and continue through the women’s basketball season (November-March). This year 2,670 5th graders and teachers filled Foster Auditorium.

POWER OF PINK
Alabama Athletics’ Power of Pink initiative, sponsored by Tuscaloosa Toyota, was started by Crimson Tide gymnastics coach Sarah Patterson in 2004 to raise awareness in the fight against breast cancer in the West Alabama community.

“I realize that I am very lucky,” Patterson said. “Not only to be healthy, but also that I have access to excellent medical care. Not everyone is so fortunate, and I wanted to do something that would help those who need it most.”

Within the UA athletics department the event has grown from gymnastics to other sports to the point where Alabama Athletics’ Power of Pink, sponsored by Tuscaloosa Toyota, has events three times a year, in the fall, in the winter and in the spring, hosted by the Tide’s women’s teams.

In the United States alone, a woman will be newly diagnosed with breast cancer every three minutes, and the odds of overcoming breast cancer are much higher if the disease is detected in the early stages, a fact that makes the Tide’s efforts even more vital.

The Alabama Athletics Power of Pink 2011-12 slate featured nine women’s athletics events, including volleyball, cross country, soccer and swimming and diving in the fall; basketball and gymnastics in the winter; and softball, tennis and rowing in the spring.

GIRL SCOUT EVENTS
Alabama Athletics partnered with the Girl Scouts of North-Central Alabama to host health and wellness events for over 400 girl scouts. At a women’s basketball game, the girl scouts learned the importance of stretching and exercising. Athletic trainers and athletes volunteered to teach these girls. At a softball game, the office of Health Promotion and Wellness on campus taught the girl scouts about healthy eating and diet. At each of these events, the girls earned a “Go Girls Sports” badge.

CHEER CLINIC AT GYMNASTICS
Alabama Athletics hosted a cheer clinic to children 12 and under before one of the gymnastics meets. The Alabama cheerleaders taught cheers and chants. The children then performed what they learned during the pre-meet entertainment. Over 100 children attended.

ALABAMA’S TRADEMARK LICENSING PROGRAM
In 1981, The University of Alabama created a licensing program to protect the marks and logos of the University and establish cooperative relationships with licensees and retailers to assist in the further development of a market for officially licensed products of The University of Alabama.

Licensing revenues are directed to The University of Alabama to support scholarship programs as well as operations in other University departments. Royalties are paid by more than 550 officially licensed manufacturers that produce products bearing the marks and logos of The University of Alabama. The licensing program promotes a mutually beneficial relationship between the University and its licensees.

Royalty income from the licensing program is directed to The University of Alabama’s Nation Merit Scholarships, the Paul W. Bryant Museum and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. The marks of The University of Alabama are controlled under a licensing program administered by The Collegiate Licensing Company (CLC). Any use of these marks requires written approval by CLC.

Alabama Athletics produced its most royalties revenue ever in 2011-12 with more than $9 million in revenue, a total that ranked only behind Texas nationally.
Anything that happens in Alabama athletics is immediately newsworthy throughout the state of Alabama and nationally. The interest generated by Crimson Tide athletics teams provides immeasurable exposure for The University of Alabama as a whole while serving as a symbol of excellence for the state itself.

The University of Alabama’s Department of Athletics Communications ensures that accurate, important and timely information is distributed to news media throughout the state and nation. The communications department also guides the messaging and strategic communications efforts of the entire Department of Athletics. The Department of Athletics Communications strives to create a cooperative atmosphere that encourages coverage by a variety of nationally prominent media outlets. Crimson Tide athletics has a global reach thanks in no small part to the efforts of the Athletics Communications staff via Alabama’s social media outlets via www.RollTide.com, Facebook and Twitter.

Staff members of the Athletics Communications office work at every UA home sports event while providing statistical information, game notes, personal insight on all UA student-athletes, historical perspective and strategic communications advice to all UA coaches and staff members. The staff works closely with Alabama’s athletics marketing department, Crimson Tide Productions, Crimson Tide Sports Marketing and the Crimson Tide Sports Network to ensure that an expansive mix of athletics events are available for viewing or listening by Alabama fans across Alabama, the nation and the world. The Athletics Communications office also serves as the backbone of the athletics department’s crisis response initiatives as the staff works with local, regional and national media outlets and journalists as part of its layered coverage efforts.

During the 2011-12 athletics year, the Department of Athletics Communications produced more than 1,000 news releases; arranged more than 1,200 interviews with news media; and provided daily strategic media advice for Alabama’s more than 600 student-athletes.

ACCOLADES FOR THE INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS STAFF:
In the summer of 2011, The University of Alabama Department of Athletics Communications garnered national recognition for excellence in publications by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). The department earned four “Best In The Nation” citations from CoSIDA.

The University of Alabama Athletics Department website, RollTide.com, features a number of different ways for fans to follow the Crimson Tide throughout the year. The website provides the most up-to-date information about Alabama athletics through press releases, game recaps, team statistics and coach and player interviews. Alabama also provides mobile device applications, for both iPhone and Android phones, allowing fans to have access to information about the Tide at their fingertips.

RollTide.com ranked as one of the top athletic websites in the country in viewership. Through one of the most successful seasons in school history, with four teams capturing national titles, the UA athletics website generated more than 33 million page impressions, while producing close to 7.5 million unique browser impressions.

When compared to the rest of the country, Alabama was the only school to rank in the top five nationally in page impressions, unique browser impressions, all-access revenue, online store revenue, auction revenue and mobile traffic among CBSSports.com college network partners. In 2011-12, the Crimson Tide ranked first nationally among CBSSports.com college network partners in online store revenue, second in mobile page impressions, third in unique browsers (both computer and mobile), fourth in all-access revenue and fifth in page impressions.

Alabama generated nearly $300,000 in gross revenue from its TideTV All-Access platform, with an average of 1,300 monthly subscribers to the all-access package. RollTide.com provides live video coverage of home athletic events, through the TideTV All-Access package. Over the course of the 2011-12 academic year, 16,425 subscriptions were purchased for the TideTV All-Access.

Additionally, Alabama produced a total of 1,651 videos of original content in 2011-12, giving fans access to interviews with coach and players that would not otherwise be available. Those 1,651 videos were more than any other CBSSports.com college network school, as Oregon produced the second-most original content videos at 1,347.
THE TOTAL PROGRAM:
ALL-SPORTS RANKINGS

The University of Alabama finished among the nation’s finest all-around athletics programs in every ranking of all-sports competition for the 2011-12 athletics year.

With four team national championships (football, gymnastics, women’s golf and softball) and strong national showings from men’s golf, men’s basketball, women’s soccer and women’s tennis, the Crimson Tide ranked in the top 10 of both divisions in the Capital One Cup Standings and placed 23rd as a combined program in the NACDA Director’s Cup Standings.

CAPITAL ONE CUP
Paced by a trio of national championships, the Alabama women’s teams earned their highest finish ever in the Capital One Cup, taking third place overall, just behind Stanford and UCLA.

Led by a national title in football and a national runner-up finish in men’s golf, Alabama placed sixth in the men’s standings. The Crimson Tide joined Florida (1st), LSU (4th) and Arkansas (8th) as the SEC placed four schools in the final top 10 of the men’s standings.

The Crimson Tide made a late–season run in 2011-12, highlighted by national championships in softball and golf in the spring. Sitting outside the top 20 in the Capital One Cup standings in late May, the Tide women bolted to their best finish, topping last year’s 18th place finish.

In addition to the Tide softball and women’s golf team’s winning their first NCAA Championships this spring, the UA gymnastics team won its sixth national championship in April, giving the Tide women three national titles in a two-month stretch.

The three women’s titles came on the heels of the Alabama football team winning its 14th national championship and second BCS title in three years. Prior to this season, the Tide had won 18 national team titles between football and gymnastics, but never more than one in an academic year.

Those titles earned the Crimson Tide the distinction of being one of only two schools in the nation to win more than two NCAA team titles in 2011-12. Four schools managed to win multiple NCAA team titles in 2011-12: Florida (men’s indoor track and field, men’s outdoor track and field, and women’s tennis); California (men’s swimming and diving, and women’s swimming and diving); Stanford (women’s soccer and women’s water polo); and Southern California (men’s tennis and men’s water polo).

Alabama and Stanford were the only schools in 2011-12 to win multiple women’s sports team titles. The NCAA sponsored 35 Division I team championships in 2011-12, not including football’s Bowl Championship Series National Championship.
The days of women’s sports at The University of Alabama began in 1974, when five sports were added to the varsity list. The first women’s sports to take place on the Tuscaloosa campus were women’s basketball, women’s golf, women’s gymnastics, women’s swimming and diving and women’s volleyball, competing for the first time during the 1974-75 academic year.

Women’s tennis joined the department in 1975, before women’s cross country and women’s indoor and outdoor track and field were added prior to the 1977-78 school year. Women’s soccer was added in 1982, but was dropped as a varsity sport in 1989, before being reinstated in 1994. Women’s volleyball also took a brief break from varsity competition when it was dropped as a varsity sport in 1982, before being reinstated in 1989. Softball was the 11th women’s sport added to the UA varsity platform prior to the 1995-96 school year, making its first appearance in the spring of 1996.

The most recent addition to the Alabama athletics department belongs to the women’s rowing team when it was added in 2006-07. Prior to beginning its seventh season as a varsity sport in 2011-12, the women’s rowing program received funding for the full allotment of 20 scholarships by the institution. With women’s rowing reaching fully funded status, all 21 varsity sports at Alabama are fully funded in athletics scholarships, based on the maximum allowed by NCAA rules.

With 12 women’s varsity teams at Alabama, the University had 197 female student-athletes competing for the school during the 2011-12 academic year. To complement the participation of women’s sports, Alabama provides 131 athletic scholarships to its female student-athletes.

The 2011-12 year was one of the best for the entire Alabama athletics department, as the University won four national championships, the most of any Division I school. Three of the four national championships were won by women’s teams, with gymnastics capturing back-to-back titles and the sixth in school history. Led by 10th-year head coach Mic Potter, the Alabama women’s golf program became the first program, outside of football and gymnastics, at the Capstone to win a national title. After making the Women’s College World Series for the eighth time in 2012, UA head coach Patrick Murphy guided the softball team to the school’s first national title in the sport.

Attendance has continued to grow for a number of women’s sports at the University. This past season, the women’s gymnastics team averaged crowds of nearly 13,000 in five regular season competitions at Coleman Coliseum. The average attendance of 12,836 marked the second highest national total in gymnastics, behind Utah, and third highest among women’s collegiate sports (Tennessee women’s basketball led the nation), during the 2011-12 year.

The softball program led the country once again in total attendance, marking the fifth straight season that Alabama has led the country. Additionally, UA set a new NCAA record for total attendance, as 91,541 fans passed through the gates at Rhoads Stadium, to average 2,474 fans per game.
The Alabama women’s athletics programs produced unparalleled success in 2011-12, as five teams competed in their respective NCAA tournament. In addition to gymnastics, golf and softball, the women’s soccer made their second ever NCAA tournament, and first since 1998, and the women’s tennis team entered the NCAA tournament as the No. 8 seed overall and advanced to the second round.

The 2011-12 season also marked the first full season that women’s volleyball and women’s basketball played in Foster Auditorium. The facility was renovated to provide the two programs a state-of-the-art facility that houses the practice and competition court, team locker rooms, athletic training facilities and weight rooms, as well as coach’s offices and a team video room. Under first year head coach Ed Allen, the women’s volleyball team returned to Foster Auditorium for the first time since the 1995, while the women’s basketball team reopened Foster Auditorium on Feb. 13, 2011, with a 64-59 win over Florida.

She was also named the 2012 NCAA Elite 89 Award winner for women’s tennis.

Geralen Stack-Eaton – Gymnastics
Alabama senior Geralen Stack-Eaton became a two-time individual NCAA Champion and was the captain of the Crimson Tide’s back-to-back NCAA Champion gymnastics team. Stack-Eaton finished her career as a Scholastic All-American and 12-time All-American as well as leading Alabama to the 2011 and 2012 NCAA Championships, the 2009 and 2011 Southeastern Conference Championships and four NCAA regional titles in a row.
A strong commitment to playing by the rules has seen Alabama Athletics to the national forefront in rules compliance. The office of compliance works with Crimson Tide student-athletes, coaches, staff members, administrators, prospective student-athletes and their families, fans, stakeholders, benefactors and the general public. That commitment ensures adherence to NCAA rules and highlights the integrity of The University of Alabama.

The University of Alabama compliance department coordinates the University’s NCAA compliance efforts on behalf of 21 varsity sports and approximately 600 student-athletes. The department conducts ongoing educational efforts, monitors activities and practices while constantly reviewing standards and practices to maintain and enhance compliance. Staff members routinely work with key campus partners on all compliance matters.

The compliance department focuses on The University of Alabama’s core values: leadership, excellence, integrity and service. With that as its guide, the Alabama Department of Athletics strives to compete and succeed at the highest level in all sports while exhibiting the highest level of integrity.

HISTORY
In the 1920’s, President George “Mike” Denny felt strongly that a nationally recognized football program would pay immeasurable dividends in elevating the image and prestige of The University of Alabama.

Rose Bowl trips after the 1925 and 1926 seasons generated the type of response Denny yearned for and it added money to athletics department coffers as well. With payoffs from the bowls, plans were made to build an on-campus stadium. In 1929, Denny Stadium, a state-of-the-art facility with 12,000 seats, opened on the Tuscaloosa campus.

As the years passed and success in football added more gridiron legends to Crimson Tide lore, the demands for a larger football stadium became obvious. Building upon the 12,000-seat structure, Bryant-Denny Stadium today has a capacity of 101,821. Through decades of excellence, the overall athletic department grew from supporting four men’s sports teams into a multi-faceted athletics program sustaining 19 teams in both men’s and women’s sports.

Chancellor Robert Witt, during his previous tenure as president, embraced the Denny vision, supporting the athletic department with a keen understanding that a powerful program only enhances the overall goal of making the University foremost in education with the finest academic and student facilities possible.

“The commitment to improving all athletic facilities is a never-ending process,” said UA Director of Athletics Mal Moore, who has spearheaded the task of providing student-athletes with the best possible venues to compete in the nation’s most difficult conference.

Prior to 2002, the athletics department had never raised funds through donors to maintain and build new facilities or to endow scholarships. That changed with the implementation of the Crimson Tradition Capital Campaign for Athletics. Three years later, the Crimson Tide Foundation was established to help ensure that the University maintains the level of excellence expected by its supporters for years to come. Since its inception, the Crimson Tide Foundation has raised approximately $142 million and, since 2005, more than 9,000 individuals have contributed to the Foundation. More than 2,800 separate gifts totaling approximately $13.6 million was raised during the 2011-12 fiscal year.

The athletics department at The University of Alabama is self-supporting; all private gifts contribute directly to the needs of our student-athletes, coaches, and staff. University of Alabama Athletics receives no funding from the State of Alabama. All gifts to the Crimson Tide Foundation are applied solely to the Athletic Department needs.

MISSION
The Crimson Tide Foundation was established in February 2005 to benefit The University of Alabama’s athletics department. Its purpose is to promote and encourage a continuing interest in, and loyalty to, the intercollegiate athletics programs at The University of Alabama; to support the staff of the University’s Department of Athletics in their efforts to coordinate, develop, maintain and improve a superior intercollegiate athletics program at the University.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES
The Crimson Tide Foundation provides a venue through which loyal alumni, fans and friends can give financial support to the Athletic Department, while capturing all the current tax benefits allowed by the Internal Revenue Service. Private support enables UA Athletics to increase its standing, in both athletics and academics, over competing universities beyond what can be accomplished with annual revenue from ticket sales, media rights and other licensing agreements.
FACILITIES/CAPITAL PROJECTS

UA Athletics is committed to providing first-class facilities for all 19 varsity sports. In an era when every college and university is striving to recruit elite student-athletes and coaches to provide the most competitive programs in the country, facilities have become an even more important component of winning; and for our fans, provides them with an unmatched game day experience that all can enjoy. Building and maintaining outstanding facilities – from playing and practice fields to the space surrounding them – is integral to attracting and retaining top-tier talent. Throughout the last decade, athletics facility improvements on campus have been substantial, as evidenced by the recent expansion of Bryant-Denny Stadium, the new men’s and women’s tennis stadium, the John and Ann Rhoads Softball Stadium, the women’s soccer stadium, the Jerry Pate Golf Center, Coleman Coliseum renovations and more. In 2012, the Roberta Alison Baumgartner Tennis Facility was dedicated. Future projects include a rowing boathouse, an enhancement to the football weight room, a complete renovation and reconfiguration of the Sam Bailey Track Stadium, and the Sarah Patterson Champions Plaza. Private giving through the Crimson Tide Foundation will be pivotal for the success of each of these projects.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ENDOWMENTS

UA Athletics is committed to offering the full number of scholarships authorized by the NCAA to our more than 650 student-athletes. Each year, mounting tuition and housing costs place greater pressures on the athletics department. UA Athletics currently funds approximately $14.5 million annually for student-athlete scholarships in 19 varsity sports. However, the cost of tuition continues to rise dramatically. Keeping pace with the increasing scholarship costs is critical to remaining competitive on a national level. In such a climate, private giving in the area of scholarship support is one of our highest priorities. Donors interested in supporting UA athletic scholarships may do so in two ways:

• ESTABLISHING A NEW SCHOLARSHIP OR GIVING TO AN EXISTING SCHOLARSHIP

Endowments are gifts that keep on giving. Endowments are permanently invested by the University of Alabama and generate earnings and interest for the purpose you choose to support scholarships, coaches, facility maintenance, sport-specific program support, and much more. The goal of fully endowing the scholarship program is a top priority of the Crimson Tide Foundation. A gift to the endowment program is invested into a pool of funds managed by the University. A portion of the earnings from the investment provides annual scholarship support. The remaining earnings are reinvested to grow the endowment and to provide scholarship and other program support in perpetuity. Endowed scholarships cover tuition, educational fees, books, and room and board for our student-athletes. Other endowments may be specified for teams, individual positions, coaching positions, facility maintenance or general program support.

• GIVING TO THE CRIMSON TIDE SCHOLARSHIP FUND (ANNUAL FUND)

The Crimson Tide Scholarship Fund provides UA Athletics with annual scholarship support. UA Athletics currently funds approximately $14.5 million annually for student-athlete scholarships in 19 varsity sports generated primarily from revenue associated with ticket sales, sales of licensed merchandise, television contracts, and other event-driven revenue. Private funding of scholarships is necessary to provide our student-athletes with the best opportunities for learning and personal growth at The University of Alabama. For every dollar contributed to this fund, UA Athletics is able to direct revenue to other priority areas of need for the Department to maximize our competitive advantage with rivals both on and off the playing field.
