To all who follow and cheer on the Alabama Crimson Tide -

It is as exciting a time to be a part of The University of Alabama Athletics Department as any in our storied history. We finished the fall semester with a flourish when our football team, which included 17 graduates before the 2013 BCS National Championship Game even got underway, won the Crimson Tide’s 15th national football title, bettering Notre Dame by a score of 42-14. It was our third BCS title in four years, continuing one of the most impressive runs in the modern era.

As the year progressed, we added to our championship tally when the men’s and women’s golf teams joined the football team as Southeastern Conference Champions. Then in May, we roared to a 4-1 win over Illinois to win the Crimson Tide’s first NCAA Men’s Golf Championship.

Those teams were not alone in their success. Our gymnastics, softball and women’s golf teams followed up NCAA Championship seasons in 2012 with top-10 national finishes in 2013, finishing third, 10th and seventh, respectively. Our men’s track and field team closed out the 2012-13 season just a half point out of the top-10 in 11th place, its highest finish at the NCAA Outdoor Championships in more than a decade.

While Alabama is certainly competing at the highest level with eight national team titles over the last four years that success isn’t limited to athletics. The Crimson Tide has been just as impressive academically, earning impressive marks in the NCAA’s most recent Academic Progress Report and Graduation Success Rate and ranking fifth nationally in terms of Academic All-America honors since 2000, just behind Stanford and well ahead of every other school in the SEC.

As we move forward, our success in all facets of the collegiate experience - built on the bedrock of our unparalleled tradition - will be guided by the following tenants:

- We will recruit and develop student-athletes to compete at the highest levels in intercollegiate athletics
- We will educate and prepare our student-athletes to compete at the highest levels in life after graduation
- We will accomplish all this with honor and integrity

In this way, everyone associated with Alabama athletics will be striving to continue the legacy of service to this University and its athletics department that the late Mal Moore brought to the more than 50 years he played, coached and led the Crimson Tide. His undeniable love for all things Alabama and his unwavering commitment to its success is a shining example for us all.

It is because of Mal’s vision, dedication and drive that our student-athletes compete, train, study and learn every day in incredible facilities - from Bryant-Denny Stadium and Coleman Coliseum, to the completely renovated Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium which came online in the fall and the state-of-the-art strength and conditioning facility that connects the Mal M. Moore Athletic Facility to the Hank Crisp Indoor Facility, which opened in the spring.

And it is because of Mal’s tremendous heart and unwavering pride, as well as the example and leadership of championship coaches like Wallace Wade, Frank Thomas, Paul Bryant, Sarah Patterson, Gene Stallings, Mic Potter, Patrick Murphy, Jay Seawell and Nick Saban, that the standard for excellence is set so high at Alabama.

Because The University of Alabama and its athletics department are far more than what you see on our fields and courts when the bright lights shine, I hope you’ll take the time to peruse our 2012-13 Annual Report for a deeper, more comprehensive look at what goes into making the Crimson Tide all that it is and why this department and its tradition of excellence is so special to so many.

As we enjoy the fruits of our labor, it is important that we stay focused on the hard work, determination and drive that have led us to this point in our history. And though we are so very proud of what we have accomplished, we are not satisfied. So as we move forward, my challenge to everyone associated with the Crimson Tide is to stay hungry and continue to work every day to compete at a championship level in all we do. To build on our current level of excellence will not be easy, but as Coach Bryant once said, “The price of victory is high, but so are the rewards.”

Roll Tide,

MAL MOORE
A LEGACY OF CRIMSON SERVICE
Moore’s dedication to and love of The University of Alabama was recognized on March 28, 2007, when, as a permanent tribute to his life-long contribution to The University of Alabama, the Board of Trustees of The University of Alabama officially dedicated the facility formerly known as The Football Building as the Mal M. Moore Athletic Facility.

In 2011, he was elected to the State of Alabama Sports Hall of Fame for his accomplishments as a coach and an administrator. After the completion of the 2011-12 academic and athletic seasons, Moore was named the winner of the John L. Toner Award, given to the nation’s best athletic director. In 2012, the City of Tuscaloosa honored him and his late wife Charlotte by naming the new Caring Days program the Mal and Charlotte Moore Center, a facility that serves as a day program for adults with Alzheimer’s and other memory disorders.

During a coaching career that spanned 31 years, Moore spent 22 of those at Alabama with stops at Montana State, Notre Dame and the NFL’s St. Louis and Phoenix Cardinals. At Alabama, Moore began as Bryant’s graduate assistant in 1964, then as defensive backfield coach for six seasons (1965-70) before becoming quarterbacks coach from 1971-82 and serving as the Tide’s first offensive coordinator starting in 1975. He returned as offensive coordinator under Gene Stallings from 1990-93 before moving into athletic administration.

During Moore’s tenure as Director of Athletics, Alabama produced national championship teams in football, gymnastics, softball and women’s golf as well as Southeastern Conference championships in football, basketball, baseball, gymnastics, men’s and women’s golf, men’s cross country and softball. Alabama athletes earned some of the highest honors the SEC and NCAA have to offer, including SEC Athlete of the Year, SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, NCAA Top VIII, NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and NCAA Sportsperson of the Year.

Moore directed more than $240 million of capital improvements to University of Alabama athletic facilities. Those projects encompassed the entire scope of all Crimson Tide athletic programs and benefitted every Alabama student-athlete, coach, and administrator.

Moore’s dedication to and love of The University of Alabama was recognized on March 28, 2007, when, as a permanent tribute to his life-long contribution to The University of Alabama, the Board of Trustees of The University of Alabama officially dedicated the facility formerly known as The Football Building as the Mal M. Moore Athletic Facility.

2012-13 ALABAMA MEN’S GOLF RESULTS
ALABAMA’S SEC CHAMPIONS
FOOTBALL

The Crimson Tide football team rolled to its 23rd Southeastern Conference football title by taking a thrilling 32-28 victory over Georgia in the SEC Championship Game at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. The Tide was 7-1 in SEC regular-season games, outscoring conference opponents 303-90 on the way to the SEC Western Division crown.
MEN’S GOLF

Alabama battled through 30 mph winds on the challenging Seaside Course at the Sea Island Golf Club in St. Simons Island, Ga., on the final day of the 2013 Southeastern Conference Championships to hold off South Carolina for the program’s fourth SEC Championship and second in a row. The Tide sealed the win with a 10-over-par round of 290 to finish with an 8-over 848 for the tournament. Junior Cory Whitsett headlined the SEC Men’s Golf Awards earning Player of the Year and Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors while Jay Seawell was named Coach of the Year.
WOMEN’S GOLF

For the second time in school history, the Alabama women’s golf team captured the SEC Championship. The 2013 squad pulled away from the competition in the second and third rounds on its way to a 14-shot win at the par-72, 6,401-yard Greystone Golf and Country Club in Birmingham. The Crimson Tide shot 14-over 302, which was within one shot of the low round of the day in windy conditions for a 54-hole total of 35-over-par 899. Georgia finished second at 49-over 913 with South Carolina in third (918), Vanderbilt (919) fourth and Kentucky (922) fifth. Stephanie Meadow lapped the field for medalist honors, shooting even-par 216 for a nine-shot win. She is the first Alabama women’s golfer to capture medalist honors at the SEC Championship. Meadow carded rounds of 75, 69 and 72 for the win. She was the only player in the field to break 70 in three rounds. The win was the sixth career victory for the junior from Jordanstown, Northern Ireland, extending her own school record.

Alabama makes the NCAA tournament
With the nation’s 25th-best RPI and 12th toughest strength of schedule, the Crimson Tide returned to the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years under head coach Mitch Gaspard. It was the fifth time in six years and the 23rd time in school history the Tide made the NCAA Tournament. Despite starting four freshmen in the lineup throughout most of the season, Alabama earned a No. 2 seed in the Tallahassee Regional.

Tide reaches the weekend in SEC tournament
Following a season in which the Tide did not reach the conference tournament, Alabama finished its 2013 SEC slate with a 14-15 record to slot into the No. 7 seed at Hoover. In the opening single-elimination game against 10th-seeded Auburn, the Tide fell behind in the third inning 3-1, but would surrender no more runs as they battled back to take a 6-3 victory. Alabama also posted a 7-5 extra innings victory against No. 21 Mississippi to make it to Friday, but suffered Wednesday and Friday losses to No. 2 LSU, 3-0 and 3-2, respectively, to close the books on its SEC Tournament run.

Tide lasts until Sunday in tallahassee regional
In Alabama’s opening matchup of the Tallahassee Regional, No. 26 Troy struck on a three-run home run and added two more runs to open up an early lead. While sophomore lefty Taylor Guilbeau kept the Trojans off the board for the rest of the game, the Tide could not claw back and dropped the opener, 5-2. Behind another brilliant performance down the stretch from freshman right-hander Mike Oczypok, the Tide kept their season alive win a win over Savannah State, 3-2. The Tide took an 8-5 lead in its rematch against Troy.
but could not hang on as their season ended in a 9-8 defeat. The Trojans scored four runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to end the game.

TIDE TRIO GARNERS POSTSEASON HONORS
Freshman shortstop Mikey White and freshman closer Ray Castillo were selected as Louisville Slugger Freshman All-Americans by Collegiate Baseball magazine. White finished the season with a .287 average, to go along with 11 doubles, a triple, two home runs and 30 RBI. Castillo converted 12 of 15 save opportunities and set a school record for the most saves in a season by a freshman. Castillo also earned second team All-America honors by the NCBWA. White was also a second team All-SEC selection, while Castillo and second baseman Kyle Overstreet garnered SEC All-Freshman Team recognition.

OVERSTREET WINS GOLD GLOVE AWARD
Freshman second baseman Kyle Overstreet was selected as the 2013 Rawlings Gold Glove second baseman by the American Baseball Coaches Association. Overstreet finished his first season at Alabama with a .983 fielding percentage, committing just six errors in 363 chances. He also helped Alabama turn 80 double plays in 2013, as he was involved in a SEC-leading 67 twin-killings.

TIDES SETS RECORD FOR EXTRA-INNING GAMES
The Crimson Tide played a school record nine extra-inning games in 2013, breaking the previous record of eight set in 1986. The Tide posted a 3-6 record in its extra-inning games, as all nine game came against nationally-ranked opponents. UA posted extra-inning wins over No. 1 Vanderbilt, No. 2 LSU and No. 9 Arkansas. UA was the only team to defeat both Vanderbilt and LSU in 2013.

IT TAKES TWO
The additions of Kyle Overstreet and Mikey White up the middle for the Tide paid immediate dividends defensively, as Alabama finished one double play shy of Towson for the national team lead, and one shy of the school record set in 1997, with 80 total twin-killings. Overstreet was in on 67 double plays, a mark that led the SEC and fell four short of Robbie Tucker’s single-season record in 1997. Austen Smith finished off 36 double plays, the third-best mark in single-season history and White sits at fourth in school history with 55.

2012-13 MEN’S BASKETBALL HIGHLIGHTS

• Earned a third consecutive postseason berth, reaching the quarterfinals of the 2013 National Invitation Tournament.
• Finished tied for second in the SEC — the second time in Anthony Grant’s four seasons at the helm of the program that Alabama has finished in second place in the league standings.
• The 23 wins during the season marked the third consecutive 20-win season under Grant (25-12 in 2011 and 21-12 in 2012). The last time Alabama had three consecutive seasons with 20 or more wins came in 1990, 1991 and 1992 when Wimp Sanderson achieved the feat — a span of just over 20 years.
• The 12-6 record in SEC play marked the third straight year that Grant has led his Alabama team to a record of over .500 in conference play. It is the first time since the 1994, 1995 and 1996 seasons that UA has finished over .500 in conference action in three consecutive seasons.
• Held 24 of its 36 opponents to under 60 points in a game, boasting a record of 19-5 (.826) when achieving the feat. In four seasons under Grant, UA has held teams to 60 or fewer points a total of 76 times, going 62-14 (.816).
• Allowed opponents to score an average of 58.4 points per game, which ranked second in the Southeastern Conference and 18th in the nation. It is also the 12th-fewest points allowed per game in SEC history.
• Six of the top seven scorers on the team were either freshmen or sophomores. Freshmen and sophomores accounted for 73 percent of the team’s scoring, 67 percent of rebounding and 68 percent of total assists.

ALABAMA CELEBRATES 100 YEARS OF BASKETBALL
During the 2012-13 men’s basketball season, the team celebrated 100 years of hoops at The University of Alabama. A special celebration for 100 years of basketball at Alabama took place at halftime of the Alabama-Georgia game on March 9, which more than 100 former players, coaches and staff were recognized in a halftime celebration. The Tide has an all-time record of 1,568-950-1 (.623), which includes a 742-557 (.571) in SEC play. UA has made 31 NCAA (19) or NIT (12) appearances and won seven SEC regular season titles and six SEC Tournament championships.

TREVOR RELEFORD EARN NUMEROUS ACCOLADES
University of Alabama guard Trevor Releford earned numerous accolades during the 2012-13 campaign. Highlighting his honors was his selection as one of 21 members of the 2013 Lefty Driesell Defensive All-America team. In being selected to the team, Releford becomes the first Alabama player to earn the recognition in the award’s four years of existence. In addition, Releford was named to the United States Basketball Writers Association’s (USBWA) All-District IV First Team, while also earning SEC Coaches and Associated Press First Team recognition. It is the first time since the 2008 season that a UA player earned first-team accolades with the AP, SEC and USBWA (Richard Hendrix). He also earned a spot on the league’s all-defensive team.

RELEFORD BECOMES UA’S ALL-TIME STEALS LEADER
With three steals at LSU on Feb. 22, guard Trevor Releford became the all-time steals leader at Alabama (He finished the season with 194 career steals). The former mark was held by Senario Hillman (2007-10), who finished with 176 takeaways in his four-year career. Releford recorded 70 steals during the 2012-13 season, which marks the third consecutive year he has had at least 60 steals in a season. His 70 takeaways places him third overall among the top-10 single-season steals leaders for a third straight season. His 60 steals as a freshman ranked eighth-best in program history and his 64 takeaways a year ago were the fourth-most in UA lore. He is the only player to have his name among the single-season steal leaders for three different years. Moreover, Releford’s 1.9 career steals per game average ranks as the program’s best average in the record books.

RANDOLPH EARN ACADEMIC HONOR
Guard Levi Randolph was named to the Capital One Academic All-District 4 First Team as selected by College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). A native of Madison, Ala., Randolph maintains a 3.48 GPA as a marketing major and has been named to the Dean’s List in every semester of his college career (3.1 GPA or better). As a freshman last season, Randolph was selected to the SEC First Year Academic Honor Roll. Randolph becomes the first Alabama men’s basketball player to earn the recognition since former standout Terrance Meade was named to the 2003 Academic All-District 4 First Team.

RELEFORD ATOP SEC RANKINGS
Guard Trevor Releford will come into the 2013-14 season ranking at the top of several categories among the SEC active leaders. With 1,299 career points, Releford will begin the season as the active leader in career points, ranking 16 points ahead of Arkansas’ Marshawn Powell. He will also enter the season as the SEC leader in total steals (194) and assists (298).

GETTING IT DONE WITH DEFENSE
The Alabama defense during head coach Anthony Grant’s tenure continues to be ranked among the nation’s best. The Tide led the SEC in three-point field goal percentage defense (.308), ranked second in points per game allowed (58.4), third in steals (8.2) and fifth in field goal percentage defense (.405). Nationally, UA finished 18th in points per game allowed, 39th in steals per game and 42nd in three-point field goal percentage defense. According to KenPom.com, Alabama is ranked 20th in the nation in overall defensive efficiency.

DOMINIQUE CANTY HONORED AS SEC LEGEND

Former women's basketball great Dominique Canty was named to the Southeastern Conference's 2013 Class of Women's Legends. Canty, who lettered from 1996-99, remains one of the most decorated players in Alabama women's basketball history and still stands as its all-time leading scorer, accumulating 2,294 points throughout her four-year career. The Chicago native was the first freshman to be named SEC Tournament MVP in 1996 and earned all-conference accolades each season. She was also recognized nationally, being named a two-time U.S. Basketball Writers Association First Team All-American amongst several other All-America honors in the late 1990s. Canty started in 113 of the 127 games she played in at the Capstone and averaged over 18 points and seven rebounds during her tenure.

KRISTY CURRY NAMED HEAD COACH

On May 16, 2013, UA Director of Athletics Bill Battle introduced Kristy Curry as the Crimson Tide’s head women's basketball coach in a press conference held in the Naylor Stone Media Room. Curry came to the Capstone after seven seasons as head coach at Texas Tech, which followed seven years as Purdue’s head coach. Overall she has led her teams to nine NCAA Tournament appearances, one NCAA Championship game, one Final Four, two Elite Eights, four Sweet 16s and a trio of Women’s National Invitation Tournament appearances as well as nine 20-win seasons.

2013 FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS
• The Crimson Tide capped a remarkable season with a 42-14 win over the top-ranked Notre Dame Fighting Irish in the 2013 Discover BCS National Championship Game in Sun Life Stadium in Miami Gardens, Fla., for the program’s 15th national title. The Crimson Tide led 28-0 at halftime and 35-0 before Notre Dame scored its first points.
• Alabama showed remarkable balance in its third BCS Championship Game in the last four years, amassing 265 rushing yards and 264 passing yards to outgain the Irish 529-302. The Tide finished No. 1 in both the USA Today Coaches poll and the Associated Press poll. Alabama posted a 13-1 record with its only blemish coming in a 29-24 defeat at the hands of Texas A&M in mid-November.
• Alabama showed remarkable balance in its third BCS Championship Game in the last four years, amassing 265 rushing yards and 264 passing yards to outgain the Irish 529-302. The Tide finished No. 1 in both the USA Today Coaches poll and the Associated Press poll. Alabama posted a 13-1 record with its only blemish coming in a 29-24 defeat at the hands of Texas A&M in mid-November.
• The Crimson Tide posted six victories over top-25 teams and produced Campbell and Rimington Trophy winner Barrett Jones, who garnered first team All-America honors along with cornerback Dee Milliner, linebacker C.J. Mosley and offensive guard Chance Warmack. Right tackle D.J. Fluker earned second team All-America honors while quarterback AJ McCarron was a third team All-American by the Associated Press. Milliner was a finalist for the Bronko Nagurski Award (defensive player of the year) and the Jim Thorpe Award (top defensive back). Jones was also a finalist for the Lombardi Award and the Outland Trophy, which he won in 2011.
• Alabama won its SEC-leading 23rd conference football championship when the Crimson Tide beat No. 3 Georgia, 32-28, in the 2012 SEC Championship Game on Dec. 1 in Atlanta. It was the second SEC title for head coach Nick Saban at Alabama (he also guided the Tide to 2009 SEC title).
• The Crimson Tide defense was No. 1 in all five major defensive categories in 2011 and held that ranking in three categories for the 2012 season. Alabama finished as the nation’s top total defense (250.00 ypg), scoring defense (10.93 ppg) and rushing defense (76.36 ypg). The Crimson Tide finished seventh nationally in passing defense (173.64 ypg) and seventh in passing efficiency defense (103.72). The Tide also led the nation in fewest first downs allowed per game (13.71).
• Alabama has fielded one of the most balanced offenses in the nation over the past four years. That trend continued in 2012, as the Crimson Tide has gained 3,185 yards rushing and 3,052 yards passing, a difference of only 133 yards. Since the 2009 season, Alabama has passed for 11,875 while rushing for 11,362, a difference of only 513 yards.
HEAD COACH NICK SABAN

Alabama head coach Nick Saban (Kent State, 1973) concluded his sixth season with the Crimson Tide by becoming the first coach to win four BCS National Championships. He is the first coach to win back-to-back BCS National Championships and has won four titles in his last eight years of coaching college football. Saban is one of three college coaches in the poll era (since 1936) to win three national championships in four years, joining Frank Leahy of Notre Dame (1946, 1947, 1949) and Tom Osborne of Nebraska (1994, 1995, 1997). He is also the fourth coach in the poll era to win four national championships (Paul “Bear” Bryant, John McKay of Southern California and Leahy). Saban holds a career record of 154-55-1 (.736) as a collegiate head coach, earlier serving at Toledo, Michigan State and LSU. Saban is the only coach to win a BCS National Championship at two different schools.

ONE OF HISTORY’S WINNINGEST SENIOR CLASSES

Alabama’s 2012 senior class won a school-record 49 games over the past four seasons (2009-12) while losing only five contests. The 49 wins is tied for the most in college football history among BCS schools, equaling Nebraska’s 49 wins and three national championships from 1994-97 (49-2 record). The Tide also broke the best four-year total in Southeastern Conference history (48: Florida from 2006-09, Alabama from 2008-11), Oklahoma (2003), Southern California (2005 & 2006), Florida (2009) and Alabama (2011), accumulated 48 wins. Alabama’s 1994 senior class won 45 games, although officially that total is 37 because of NCAA sanctions. The previous Alabama record was 44 wins for the 1980 senior class that captured national titles in 1978 and 1979. Among non-BCS schools, Boise State’s 2011 senior class has the record with a 50-3 mark.

ALABAMA DEGREES

Alabama’s success on the field over the past six seasons under the direction of head coach Nick Saban has coincided with the Crimson Tide’s success in the classroom. The 2012 squad featured six players that already had degrees in hand, including Barrett Jones (August, 2011), Robert Lester (December, 2011), William Ming (May, 2012), Damien Square (May, 2012), Caron Tinker (August, 2012) and Michael Williams (May, 2012). Over the past five seasons (2008-12) Alabama has seen 58 players compete for the Crimson Tide after already having graduated.

ROAD WARRIORS

As successful as Alabama has been at Bryant-Denny Stadium in the Saban era, the Crimson Tide have been almost as dangerous away from home. Alabama ended 2012 with a 14-game winning streak away from Bryant-Denny Stadium. The 14-game streak includes both true road games and neutral-site games and dates back to a 24-21 loss at LSU on Nov. 6, 2010. The streak also includes victories over Notre Dame (Miami Gardens), LSU (Baton Rouge and New Orleans), Michigan (Dallas), at Penn State, at Florida, at Arkansas and at Auburn. The current streak is the second-longest of its kind in Alabama history behind a 19-game streak that began on Sept. 24, 1977, and ended on Nov. 1, 1980. Since 2008, the Crimson Tide is 29-4 (.879) away from Bryant-Denny Stadium, including a 4-1 record in bowl games. During that time, Alabama is 32-3 at Bryant-Denny Stadium (.914).

10-WIN SEASONS

Alabama reached the 10-win milestone for the fifth consecutive season in 2012, boasting a 13-1 record. In 117 seasons, the Tide has won 10 or more games 32 times, two back of Oklahoma (34) for the most 10-win seasons in college football. Alabama has produced seven 10-win seasons since the 2002 season (2002, 2005, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011 and 2012). Tide head coach Nick Saban is the 11th coach in school history to lead his team to a 10-win season and is the fifth coach in school history to have more than one 10-win season.

ALABAMA WINS 15TH NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Alabama’s 42-14 victory over Notre Dame in the 2013 Discover BCS National Championship Game secured the Crimson Tide’s 15th claimed football national championship. It was also the program’s third national championship in four years, which has been accomplished only twice in the poll era. Nebraska did it under Tom Osborne in 1994, 1995 and 1997, but the last of those titles was only in the coaches’ poll. The only other team to win three Associated Press national championships in a four-year span was Notre Dame under Frank Leahy in 1946, 1947 and 1949. Alabama’s first national championship came in 1925 and was followed by titles in 1926, 1930, 1934, 1941, 1961, 1964, 1965, 1973, 1978, 1979, 1992, 2009, 2011 and 2012.

ANNUAL REPORT 2012-2013
2012-13 MEN’S GOLF HIGHLIGHTS

• Captured the program’s first NCAA Championship with a 4-1 victory over Illinois in the NCAA Finals. The Crimson Tide also swept the SEC and NCAA Baton Rouge Regional titles.

• Alabama set a school record with eight tournament victories in 12 events during the 2012-13 season. The Tide won its final six events of the year and seven of eight in the spring schedule.

• The Crimson Tide had four golfers earn All-America honors with Cory Whitsett, Justin Thomas and Bobby Wyatt garnering first-team honors. Trey Mullinax was an honorable mention selection by Golfweek. Whitsett and Wyatt were three-time All-Americans and Thomas was a two-time first-team honoree.

• Cory Whitsett swept the Southeastern Conference individual honors, earning SEC Player of the Year and sharing the league’s scholar-athlete award.

• Whitsett was a first team Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American. He also won the NCAA Elite 89 Award as the player at the NCAA Championships with the highest grade point average.

• Alabama boasted five golfers in the top 57 of the final Golfweek/Sagarin Performance Index and three among the top-six nationally. Wyatt led the way at No. 3 with Whitsett fourth and Thomas sixth. Trey Mullinax was 40th and Scott Strohmeyer was 57th.

ALABAMA CAPTURES SCHOOL’S FIRST NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

Alabama laid claim to the program’s first national championship with a 4-1 victory over Illinois in the finals of the 2013 NCAA Golf Championship on the par-70, 7,319-yard Crabapple Course at the Capital City Club in Milton, Ga. The Tide beat New Mexico in the quarterfinals and then dispatched of Georgia Tech in the semifinals. The clinching holes were almost simultaneous on the 15th and 16th. Cory Whitsett halved the par-3 15th hole for a 4 and 3 victory and only seconds later Scott Strohmeyer won the difficult par-4 16th hole with par for a 3 and 2 win. Whitsett, playing in the last group, jumped out to an early lead with the three middle parings locked in a battle for the three points needed to win the match. Strohmeyer battled Illinois’ Brian Campbell in another hotly contested match. He fell behind on the 11th hole but quickly got back to all square with a birdie on the par-5 12th. After halving the 13th with a long par putt, Strohmeyer won three straight holes to close out the match, 3 and 2.

Trey Mullinax was in the second paring and locked in a battle with Charlie Danielson. The back-and-forth match went to the 18th hole all square after six lead changes. Both players found their approach shots to the right of flag, leaving Mullinax a 60-foot putt while Danielson was chipping from off the green. Mullinax lagged to within three feet and sank his par putt for the 1-up win and Alabama’s second point. Bobby Wyatt staked the Tide to an early lead with an amazing front nine. The junior from Mobile, Ala, won the first seven holes and had a 6-up lead at the turn with five birdies. He closed out the match with an improbable chip-in for birdie on the 13th for a 6 and 5 win over Illinois’ Thomas Detty. The national championship marked Alabama’s first win in a men’s sport other than football. It was the Crimson Tide’s 24th national championship overall and its eighth title since 2009 (3 in football, 2 in women’s gymnastics, 1 women’s golf, 1 softball, 1 men’s golf).

CRIMSON TIDE BOASTS FOUR ALL-AMERICANS
Alabama had four players selected to the 2012-13 Golfweek All-America Team. Cory Whitsett, Bobby Wyatt and Justin Thomas were selected to the first team while Trey Mullinax as an honorable mention choice, marking the first time Alabama has produced more than three All-Americans in one season and the first time it has had multiple first team All-Americans in the same season. The Crimson Tide has had at least one first team All-American in six straight seasons (Michael Thompson, 2008; Bud Cauley, 2009-11; Thomas, 2012). Whitsett was a first team PING/GCAA All-American and the SEC Player of the Year. He finished with a team-best 71.08 scoring average. He is a three-time All-American, garnering second-team accolades in 2011 and 2012. Thomas was the National Player of the Year in 2012 and is the second two-time first team All-American in school history (Bud Cauley, 2009-11). Wyatt is a three-time All-American. He was a second-team choice in 2012 and was an honorable mention selection in 2011. Mullinax captured his first All-America honor after averaging 72.77 strokes per round.

THREE TIDE GOLFERS EARN SEC POSTSEASON AWARDS
Cory Whitsett was named the Southeastern Conference Men’s Golfer of the Year. Head coach Jay Seawell was tabbed as the SEC Coach of the Year for the second straight season (third overall) after guiding the Crimson Tide to the program’s fourth SEC Championship. Whitsett was also a tri-winner of the SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year and was a first team All-SEC selection along with Justin Thomas and Bobby Wyatt. Trey Mullinax was named to the All-SEC second team.

ALABAMA SETS SCHOOL RECORD WITH EIGHT WINS
Alabama’s NCAA championship gave the Crimson Tide its eighth team victory of the year, setting a school record for wins in a season. The old record was six, set in the 2007-08 season. The Crimson Tide won six straight events to finish the year and seven of eight tournaments in the spring. The Tide picked up its first win of the season at the fall at the Jerry Pate National Intercollegiate at the Old Overton Club. For the third year in a row, Alabama went into the final rotation with a chance to win the national title. Alabama has won NCAA Championships six times, 1988, 1991, 1996, 2002, 2011 and 2012. At that same meeting, the Board announced the new monument would be named The Sarah Patterson Champions Plaza in honor of the Tide’s legendary head gymnastics coach. The plaza, which is the result of two-plus years of ongoing discussions and planning for a way to recognize and honor Alabama’s championship tradition, comes on the heels of a tremendous era for Crimson Tide Athletics, including eight national championships since the fall of 2009, including back-to-back gymnastics titles in 2011 and 2012. During the 2012-13 academic year, Patterson also received the Amanda Grace Taylor Watson Distinctive Image Award from the Capstone Men and Women. 2012 SOCCER HIGHLIGHTS

- Finished the 2012 season with an 8-9-2 record.
- Earned its fourth consecutive National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) Team Academic Award.
- Had three players garner SEC accolades in 2012, which marks the fourth time in school history Alabama boasted three All-SEC honorees in the same season, three of which have come in each of the last three seasons.

THREE EARN ALL-SEC HONORS

The Alabama soccer team had three players named as All-Southeastern Conference performers. Pia Rijndijk, Merel Van Dongen and Katie Bourgeois represented the Crimson Tide in the annual awards. Rijndijk was recognized by the conference for the second straight season, earning second team All-SEC accolades. The Numansdorp, Netherlands native paced the Tide with 20 points on seven goals and six assists. She also led Alabama in SEC play circuit with 13 points on four goals and five assists. Van Dongen was selected as the SEC Freshman of the Year, the first UA player to earn the honor, and second team All-SEC. Van Dongen and Bourgeois were both named to the league's all-freshman team. This marks the fourth time Alabama has earned three All-SEC honors in the same season, tying 2004, 2010 and 2011 for the most in school history.

VAN DONGEN MAKES MOST OF FRESHMAN SEASON

True freshman Merel Van Dongen earned numerous awards for her play on the pitch during the season, highlighted by becoming the first player in Alabama soccer history to be named the SEC Freshman of the Year, while also earning a spot on the league's second team and all-freshman team. Furthermore, Van Dongen was selected to the NSCAA All-South Region Second Team and was named to the Freshman Team of the Season by TopDrawerSoccer.com. Van Dongen earned the accolades after scoring nine points on three goals and three assists. Seven of the nine points were recorded during SEC play.

NSCAA TEAM ACADEMIC AWARD

For the fourth consecutive season, the Alabama soccer team garnered recognition for its work in the classroom in 2012, as the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) named the Crimson Tide to its College Team Academic Award list. To be eligible a team must have a cumulative grade point average above 3.0. The NSCAA announced that a total of 732 soccer teams (225 men, 505 women) posted a team grade point average of 3.0 or higher, thereby earning the NSCAA Team Academic Award for the 2011-12 academic year.

OFFENSIVE ONSLAUGHT

The 2012 Alabama soccer team had an impressive offensive performance throughout the campaign. The Crimson Tide's final numbers on offense ranked among the best in program history. UA finished the season with 357 total shots and an average of 18.79 shots per game, both of which set program best marks. Alabama also cracked the top 10 in assists (35 - 4th), assists per game (1.84 - 4th), goals (37 - 9th), goals per game (1.95 - 7th), total points (109 - 7th), points per game (5.73 - 6th) shots on goal (153 - 3rd) and shots on goal per game (8.16 - 3rd).

SINGLE SEASON POINTS

Alabama forward Pia Rijsdijk finished the 2012 campaign with 20 points on seven goals and six assists, while forward Katie Bourgeois collected 19 points on a team-high eight goals and three assists. The 20 and 19 points are the most scored by a Crimson Tide player since Libby Probst tallied a school record 37 on 15 goals and seven assists in 18 matches in 2005. Nine of Bourgeois’ 19 points came in the game at South Alabama when she accounted for four goals and an assist in the 9-0 win. Her four tallies and nine points are the third most marks in a single game in UA lore.

HISTORIC WIN OVER FLORIDA

The Alabama soccer team made a first half lead stand up as the Crimson Tide knocked off the then-No. 11 Florida Gators, 1-0, on Oct. 19 at the Alabama Soccer Stadium. It was the first time in program history that Alabama had defeated Florida and it was also the highest ranked opponent that the Tide has ever defeated. The Crimson Tide scored the game’s only goal late in the first half thanks to a pair of its underclassmen forwards. Pia Rijsdijk forced a Gator turnover and was able to find forward Katie Bourgeois streaking into the box. Bourgeois collected the through ball and slid the ball to the back post, putting Alabama up 1-0 in the 39th minute. Alabama made the goal stand up with some superb defending and goalkeeping, as Shelby Church finished with five saves, including several key stops late in the match to preserve her third shutout of the season.

TEAM AWARDS

Merel Van Dongen, in her first season on the squad, was named the team’s MVP at the annual Alabama Soccer Banquet. The Defensive Player of the Year award went to Laura Lee Smith. In her first season on the backline, Smith helped the Tide post five shutouts while also holding opponents to one goal or less on 11 occasions. She also scored four points on two goals. Theresa Diederich was named the Offensive Player of the Year. Diederich tallied 15 points on seven goals and an assist. She tallied two game-winning goals. The Coaches Award was presented to Lindsey Sillers. The senior tallied five points on two goals and assist in 17 matches played. Josie Rix was also recognized for earning the SEC Community Service award.

A FAST YEAR
More than 75 percent of the Crimson Tide’s swims in the 2012-13 postseason resulted in career-best times. There were also 35 new times on Alabama’s all-time top-10 list, 21 on the men’s side and 14 on the women’s. There were also three new school records - BJ Hornikel (100 freestyle), Jenna Gallo (1,650 freestyle) and Emma Saunders (200 freestyle).

ALABAMA’S NEW COACHING STAFF
The 2012-13 season brought a largely new coaching staff to the deck of the Alabama Aquatic Center, though one that was largely familiar with the Crimson Tide and its swimming and diving heritage. Dennis Pursley was in his first season as the Crimson Tide’s head coach in 2013. An Alabama graduate and former assistant coach, Pursley returned to the Capstone after stops as the national team director for USA Swimming, the head coach of the Australian Institute of Sport and his most recent post as the head coach of British Swimming. Jonty Skinner, Alabama’s first NCAA Champion (100 freestyle, 1975) and World Record Holder (100m freestyle), returned as an assistant coach. Skinner had previously served as an assistant coach, associate head coach and head coach (1990-94) at Alabama before returning to Tuscaloosa in the fall of 2012. Assistant coach Mike Davidson, a Crimson Tide All-American and member of the Tide’s 1987 SEC Championship team, also returned to the Capstone as an assistant coach. Assistant coaches Lisa Ebeling, Scott Crawford and David Pursley all began their first stints with the Tide during the 2012-13 season. Long-time diving coach Pat Greenwell and assistant coach James Barber were the two returners from the previous staff. Greenwell, who has led a pair of Alabama divers to NCAA Championships during his UA tenure, finished his 26th season with the Tide in 2013, while Barber finished his sixth season as a Tide assistant coach.

ALL-AMERICAN BJ HORNIKEL
Junior BJ Hornikel earned a pair of All-American honors in his second appearance at the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships. He earned first-team honors after taking 5th place in the 100 freestyle and earned honorable mention accolades in the 200 freestyle, after taking 11th place overall and third in the consolation finals. Overall, Hornikel has earned a trio of All-America honors after earning honorable mention recognition in the 100 freestyle in 2012. Hornikel finished 21st in the 50 freestyle. He bettered all three of his placings from his appearance at the 2012 NCAA Championships where he finished 13th in the 100 freestyle, 22nd in the 200 freestyle and 41st in the 50 freestyle.

BREAKING AN OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALIST’S RECORD
BJ Hornikel posted a career-best 42.46 in the NCAA Championship finals of the 100 freestyle, posting his fourth personal-best mark in that event in a month, as well as breaking the school mark set by four-time Olympic gold medalist Jon Olsen in 1991. The junior tied Olsen’s mark during prelims with a 42.69. Hornikel was seeded 17th in the 100 freestyle coming into this year’s championships after posting a then career-best 42.87 at the Southeastern Conference Championship in February.
MEN’S NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP SCORING
Bj Hornikel earned 20 team points at the 2013 NCAA Championships after taking fifth place in the 100 freestyle and 11th in the 200 freestyle. Hornikel’s total put the Crimson Tide in 28th place overall. The Tide’s finish marked the 38th time since UA first broke into the scoring at the NCAA Championships in 1973 that Alabama has finished in the top-30 nationally.

WOMEN’S NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS
Alabama sent two women to the NCAA Championships in 2013. Jenna Gallo swam the 1,650 freestyle, taking 29th in her first appearance at the NCAA Championships. Kaylin Burchell swam both the 100 and 200 breaststroke in her second appearance at the national championships, taking 39th and 42nd, respectively.

LONG DISTANCE RECORD GOES DOWN
Jenna Gallo swam career-best times in the 500 and 1,650 freestyles in her final SEC Championship appearance, including a 16:13.56 in the 1,650, which shaved nearly five seconds off the school record and more than 13 seconds off her previous best time. Gallo shattered the previous school mark, set at 16:18.10 by Ann-Sofie Joensson in 1995.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT
Brian Westlake won the 500 and 1,000 in two of the first three dual meets he swam at Alabama, and just kept rolling from there. By the end of the season, he earned a place on the SEC All-Freshman Team. The rookie also earned a place on the Tide’s all-time top-10 list in the 500, 1,000 and 1,650 freestyles as well as the 400 individual medley.

IMMEDIATE IMPACT II
It didn’t take Emma Saunders long at all to make her presence felt in the Tide’s lineup. After joining Alabama in January, the senior exploded onto the scene and earned a place on the Tide’s all-time top-30 list in the 100 freestyle is just .05 off the school mark while her 100 backstroke time is .02 off the school record.

WOMEN RANKED SECOND NATIONALLY IN TEAM GPA
Alabama women’s swimming and diving produced the second-highest team grade point average in the nation this fall with a 3.57, just five-hundredths of a point behind first-place North Texas, the College Swimming Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) announced. The Tide women also earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team Honors.

ALABAMA MEN EARN CSCAA SCHOLAR ALL-AMERICA TEAM HONORS
The Alabama men’s team earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team honors for the fall semester, which requires a team GPA of 3.0 or better. The Alabama men posted a 3.08 team GPA in the fall.

OLYMPIC START TO THE SEASON
Prior to the start of the 2012-13 season, in her first swim as an Olympian, Alabama’s Kristel Vourna advanced to the semifinals of the 100-meter butterfly in the London Olympics. Vourna, swimming for Greece on the first day of the swimming competition, posted a 58.74 to take sixth place in the fourth heat of prelims, which gave her the last spot in the semis. In the semifinals, Vourna shaved nearly half a second off her time from prelims, touching the wall with a time of 58.31, finishing seventh in the second heat of the semifinals. Her time in the finals set a new Greek national record and solidified her reputation as one of the world’s up-and-coming butterflies. In addition to her individual swims, she anchored Greece’s 400m freestyle relay, which finished eighth in the second heat of prelims, with a time of 3:45.55.

ANNUAL REPORT 2012-2013
MEN’S TENNIS

2012-13 MEN’S TENNIS HIGHLIGHTS

• The Crimson Tide men’s tennis program finished the season with a 14-14 overall record, while finishing 34th in the country in the final ITA Tennis rankings.

• UA returned to the NCAA Championship for the first time since 2010 under first-year head coach George Husack.

• Jarryd Botha was selected to compete in both the NCAA Singles and Doubles Championships, becoming the first player to represent the Tide in both tournaments in the same season since 2000.

TIDE BACK IN NCAA TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

Under first-year head coach George Husack, the men’s tennis team was selected to take part in the 2013 NCAA Championship. The appearance was the first for the Tide in the tournament since 2010 and 17th overall.

BOTH AND VIEYRA EARN ALL-AMERICA HONORS WITH TOP-8 SEED IN NCAA DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS

By virtue of a top-eight seed in the NCAA Doubles Championship, Jarryd Botha and David Vieyra earned ITA All-America honors, becoming the first Crimson Tide duo to do so since 1993. The Tide’s No. 1 team advanced to the Round of 16, which is the farthest a team has made it in the tournament for Alabama since 1991 when Ellis Ferreira and Rick Witsken played into the quarterfinals.

BOTH ADVANCES TO NCAA SINGLES ROUND OF 32; KNOCKS OFF NO. 6 SEED IN THE FIRST ROUND

Jarryd Botha came back from a close first-set loss to take down Southern California’s Emilio Gomez, the tournament’s No. 6 seed, 6-7(5), 6-3, 7-5, in the first round of the NCAA Singles Championship. The senior from Cape Town, South Africa, would lose in the next round to Tulsa’s Japie De Klerk, who went on to advance to the semifinals.
Daniil Proskura became the second player in program history to earn the Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athlete of the Year award for men's tennis, following Saketh Myneni, who earned the honor in 2010. Proskura holds a 3.843 GPA in finance and was a 2012 ITA Scholar-Athlete and member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll. He earned a place on the Dean’s List in three semesters and the President's List once. Proskura collected a team-high 17 singles wins in dual match play, which includes a 12-2 record from the No. 3 position. His biggest win of the season came in the SEC Championships, where he knocked off then-16th-ranked Jonas Lutjen of Mississippi in straight sets.

Botha and O'Shaughnessey Named All-SEC

Jarryd Botha and Becker O'Shaughnessey were both honored by the Southeastern Conference, as Botha was named to the second team All-SEC while O'Shaughnessey earned second team All-SEC honors, as well as a spot on the SEC All-Freshman Team. Botha was ranked nationally nearly all season in singles and doubles, playing at the No. 1 position in both for Alabama. He won six singles and six doubles matches against nationally-ranked opponents and is tied for most wins on the team with 29 overall singles wins in addition to 21 doubles victories. O'Shaughnessey also finished the season with 29 wins in singles and led the Crimson Tide with 26 doubles victories. He, too, won six singles matches against nationally-ranked competition and held a 4-1 record versus ranked foes in doubles.

In the summer of 2012, when the eyes of the world were trained on London and the 2012 Olympiad, the Alabama Crimson Tide was well represented.

Track and field phenom Kirani James was the Tide’s most successful participant in London, adding Olympic gold medalist to his growing resume by winning the 400 meters in dominating fashion with a personal best time of 43.94 at the London Olympic Stadium. James, representing his home country of Grenada, became the small Caribbean island’s first Olympic medalist as well as the first non-American to break the 44-second barrier in the history of the event.

As he had in his two qualifying races, the 19-year-old James ran an extremely strong and controlled race throughout the entire 400 meters before dramatically pulling away from the field in the final 100 meters to win by more than half a second.

The gold medal performance comes just a little more than a year into James’ professional career. The two-time NCAA Champion in the event, turned professional after winning his second NCAA title in June of 2011. He capped his first professional season in grand fashion by winning the World Championship in the event.

James’ gold medal is the fourth medal earned by a former UA male track athlete as he joins Americans Jan Johnson and Calvin Smith in the annals of UA track history. Johnson earned a bronze medal in the pole vault in 1984 and an individual bronze medal in the 100 meters in 1988. James returned to the Capstone along with fellow Crimson Tide Olympic Gold Medalists Smith, Lillie Leatherwood and Pauline Davis in March for the rededication of the Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium on The University of Alabama campus.

Current Alabama swimmer Krystal Vourna was the Tide’s top finisher in the pool, taking 12th overall in the 100m butterfly while representing her native Greece. Two-time NCAA Champion and three-time Olympian Vlad Polyakov; along with former Tide All-Americans Arlene Semeco and Hunor Mate also competed in London, with Semeco making her third Olympics and Mate his second.
Just as The University of Alabama enjoyed a tremendous season in the athletic arena, the Crimson Tide’s student-athletes were just as impressive in the academic realm. Alabama’s more than 550 student-athletes averaged over a 3.0 grade point average for the 2012-13 academic year, including 51 that maintain a career GPA of 4.0. Overall seven teams posted cumulative GPAs above 3.5 for the year, marking the third year in a row that at least five teams have met that standard. Overall, 14 teams earned GPAs over 3.0 for the season.

More than 100 student-athletes earned their degrees during the 2012-13 academic year. The latest numbers that Alabama graduates 70 percent of its student-athletes while the general student population graduates at a rate of 67 percent.

There were 17 graduates on Alabama football’s roster when it won the 2012 national championship. The Tide set the BCS National Championship Game record in 2009 at 22. All together, the Crimson Tide second nationally, trailing only Stanford which has 11.

Football player Barrett Jones became the eighth Crimson Tide student-athlete to be named the Southeastern Conference H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Jones graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in commerce and business administration in August 2011 and earned a Master of Accountancy in December 2012, both with 4.0 grade point averages. He has been inducted into numerous honor societies, including Phi Beta Sigma, the National Society of Collegiate Scholars, the Golden Key Honor Society, Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Alpha Lambda, Omicron Delta Kappa, the Blue Key Society, the Anderson Society and Phi Kappa Phi.
Brooke Pancake, who closed out her tenure at the Capstone by leading Alabama to the 2012 NCAA Women's Golf Championship, capped her stellar career by earning the prestigious NCAA Top X award in January 2013. The award is given annually to the top 10 senior student-athletes among all NCAA sports, regardless of division or gender, for their accomplishments in athletics, academics and in the community. She is the 11th Alabama student-athlete and the eighth over the last decade to earn the honor, which is considered the highest individual accolade the NCAA bestows on a student-athlete.

Kim Jacob (gymnastics), Cory Whitsett (women's golf) and Emily Zabor (women's tennis) earned the NCAA's Elite 89 accolade during the 2012-13 academic year. The NCAA Elite 89 is awarded to the athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average at each NCAA Championship. Alabama ranks second nationally in Elite 89 honors with 10 in the award's first four years while Stanford leads the nation with 11.

On a conference level, Barrett Jones was named the male 2012-13 Southeastern Conference H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar-Athlete of the Year, earning a $15,000 postgraduate scholarship in the process. He is the eighth Alabama student-athlete to earn the award since gymnast Julie Erisin brought home the first honor in 1987.

Jones was also one of six Alabama student-athletes named SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year for their respective sports. He was joined by Kim Jacob (gymnastics), Daniil Proskura (men's tennis), Cory Whitsett (men's golf), Stephanie Meadows (women's golf) and Antonio Frohse (women's tennis). Both UA teams that won national championships in 2012-13 had an athlete named the league's top scholar for that sport. Jacob and Jones won the award for the second time.

Alabama was also prolific when it came to the SEC Academic Honor Roll, earning the accolade 256 times during the 2012-13 academic year. The Crimson Tide had 42, 48 and 67 student-athletes named to the SEC Fall, Winter and Spring Academic Honor Rolls and 89 named to the First-Year Academic Honor Roll. Alabama football had 38 players named to the SEC Fall Academic Honor Roll in 2012, which added to the conference record 38 the Tide had in 2011 makes for a two-year total of 67.

GRADUATION SUCCESS RATE

The University of Alabama’s Graduation Success Rate (GSR) score rose to an 85 in 2012, once again exceeding acceptable standards for completion of undergraduate studies nationally for the period covering student-athletes who attended the University during 2002-05, according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Of Alabama’s intercollegiate athletics programs in existence at the time, six – women’s golf, soccer, softball, tennis and volleyball as well as men’s swimming and diving – achieved perfect scores of 100. Overall, eight Alabama programs recorded a GSR score. of at least 90 and 12 were over 80. The Alabama women’s rowing program is not included in this survey as it did not become a scholarship sport at UA until 2006.

The Crimson Tide’s GSR of 85 was second overall in the Southeastern Conference, just behind Vanderbilt. The Tide’s 2012 NCAA Champion softball and women’s golf teams both led the league with perfect GSR scores of 100 again this year. Alabama’s soccer, volleyball, women’s tennis and men’s swimming and diving teams also led the SEC with GSR scores of 100.

The Tide’s two-time defending national champion football team ranks third in the SEC with a score of 75 following a six-point jump from the previous report. The Alabama men’s basketball, baseball and women’s swimming and diving teams were all third in the SEC with scores of 71, 77 and 92, respectively.

The GSR measures graduation rates at Division I institutions and includes transferring into the institutions. The GSR also allows institutions to subtract student-athletes who leave their institutions prior to graduation as long as they would have been academically eligible to compete had they remained.

The NCAA GSR and the Academic Success Rate (ASR) were developed in response to college and university presidents who wanted graduation data that more accurately reflected the mobility among college students today. Both rates improve on the federally mandated graduation rate by including students who were omitted from the federal calculation.

ACADEMIC PROGRESS RATE

All 21 University of Alabama varsity athletic teams scored well above the national cutoff standard of 930 in the latest Academic Progress Rate (APR) the NCAA announced in June of 2013. In addition, 16 Crimson Tide teams posted scores that either matched or were above the national Division I average in their respective sports. Figures released covered the four-year period extending from the 2008-09 through 2011-12 school years.

“Our mission at The University of Alabama is to, one - recruit and develop student-athletes to compete at the highest levels in intercollegiate athletics, two - educate and prepare our student-athletes to compete at the highest levels in life after graduation, and three- accomplish all this with honor and integrity,” UA Director of Athletics Bill Battle said. “These scores over the last four years are proof that the Crimson Tide is performing at a championship level in all areas, which is a point of great pride for the department.”

A school-best total of five Alabama teams, including the Tide’s national champion football and men’s golf teams, recently received public recognition from the NCAA for their APR scores figuring in the top 10 percentile nationally among teams in those sports. Women’s golf, the 2012 NCAA Championship team, earned the APR honor for the third consecutive year, the women’s tennis team for the second year in a row and the men’s basketball team for the first time.

In addition to its national recognition, the Tide’s back-to-back national champion football team as well as the men’s basketball team posted the highest APR scores in the Southeastern Conference. Alabama and Duke were the only NCAA Division I schools in the country to have both their football and men’s basketball team honored.

The Tide football team’s APR continues to rise, jumping eight points to 978 this year, which is 24 points higher than the national football average. The men’s basketball team moved up 11 points to a 995 four-year mark, which puts Alabama 43 points above the national average for men’s basketball.

The men’s golf teams, women’s golf and women’s tennis teams all scored a perfect 1,000 for their four-year score while men’s basketball posted a 995. Those four teams were joined by 2012 NCAA Champion softball team (990), the 2011 and 2012 NCAA Champion gymnastics team (991) and the men’s tennis team (993) among UA programs with scores above 990.

The Tide’s women’s cross country (989), soccer (988), men’s cross country (985), women’s swimming & diving (984), men’s swimming and diving (981) teams all posted scores of 980 or better.

“Our APR report continues to be very positive,” Associate Athletic Director for Student Services Jon Dever said. “Five of our sports earned NCAA recognition and three earned perfect scores of 1,000 and all 21 teams were at least 30 points above the 910 mark, including 12 teams that scored 980 or better. We also saw 17 of our teams equal or improve their four-year scores from a year ago. All told, nine of our teams bettered the national average for their sport by 10 points or more and three, football, men’s basketball and men’s golf, bettered the national average by 24 points or more.”

The secret behind academic success for Alabama student-athletes is Alabama’s Center of Athletic Student Services (CASS), headed by Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever. From the moment a recruit first walks on to the campus to the moment a student-athlete graduates with diploma in hand, comprehensive academic service is available.

For the first year at the Capstone, freshman and junior college transfers are required to attend nightly study halls. After that, the attendance is based on the individual's GPA and study needs. The CASS staff works as a liaison between the athletic department and the University’s undergraduate divisions and administrative office. The CASS staff offers career advice and counseling, ensures that all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward a degree, and monitors academic eligibility. Academic coordinators supervise tutorial services, schedule study sessions, and coordinate all other aspects of CASS’s academic enrichment program.

All of these services begin with the recruit’s first visit. The advisors set up individual appointments within the department of the recruit’s area of study and accompany the prospect to the meeting. They give the recruit a tour of the campus and summarize services provided by CASS. Alabama’s CASS staff will provide student-athletes with every opportunity to achieve their highest goals.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS
In 1994, the Division I-A Directors’ CHAMPS program and the NCAA Life Skills program joined forces to become the CHAMPS/Life Skills program. The program focuses on five commitments that help student-athletes not only achieve present success but help facilitate future accomplishments. CHAMPS/Life Skills focus on academic excellence, athletic excellence, personal growth, career development and community service. The University of Alabama CHAMPS/Life Skills program offers a variety of programs geared toward each of these five commitments.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program focuses on supporting student-athletes in all aspects of their academic success. University of Alabama student-athletes have the best resources at their fingertips in Alabama’s Center of Athletic Student Services (CASS), located in Bryant Hall.

ATHLETIC EXCELLENCE
From top-notch facilities to a highly qualified staff, student-athletes are provided the tools needed to compete at the highest level.
PERSONAL GROWTH
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program helps student-athletes gain the skills they need to balance academic and athletic commitments, make critical life decisions and become well-rounded individuals. At The University of Alabama, the CHAMPS/Life Skills program and SAAC work together to bring in workshops and speakers to help guide student-athletes in this process.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program is dedicated to helping student-athletes after their academic and athletic careers at The University of Alabama are finished. The ultimate goal of this component is to help student-athletes identify and work towards their future career goals.

COMMUNITY SERVICE
The CHAMPS/Life Skills program focuses on facilitating community outreach opportunities for student-athletes. This aspect gives Alabama athletes a chance to make a difference and show their gratitude to the local communities that support them throughout their careers.

THE STUDENT ATHLETIC ADVISORY COMMITTEE
The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is dedicated to promoting and maintaining student-athlete well-being, academic excellence, personal development and community involvement. SAAC's is a voice for Alabama's student-athletes while they strive to achieve greatness in the classroom, playing fields and throughout the community. The SAAC program wants every student-athlete's experience at The University of Alabama to be successful and personally rewarding.

EVENTS
Every year the SAAC works to involve student-athletes in numerous events that help the community. Past events have included supporting Alabama's “Relay for Life” Campaign, a Halloween Extravaganza party for local children, the “Light up the Night” fundraiser for breast cancer research and Project Angel Tree. In addition to these special events, student-athletes regularly visit local schools to help with special events, physical education classes and reading initiatives.

SPORTS MEDICINE
VISION STATEMENT
The University of Alabama Sports Medicine Program provides injury prevention, care and rehabilitation services and athletic education of recognized excellence to every student-athlete. The program is committed to becoming a national leader in sports medicine services.

MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of The University of Alabama Sports Medicine program is to provide the highest quality healthcare available to our student-athletes in a professional and caring manner in order to prevent athletic injury. Should an injury or illness occur, it is our mission to recognize and refer the student-athlete to the appropriate medical care returning them to competition as quickly and safely as possible.

“BUILT BY BAMA”

More than just a tagline used throughout the 2012-13 academic year and beyond by Alabama and its fanbase, “Built by Bama” speaks to the ongoing efforts by The University of Alabama Athletics Department to make its facilities all that Crimson Tide student-athletes and coaches need to be successful. Such was the late Mal Moore’s vision when he took over as Director of Athletics in 1999 and so it remains today for the department as a whole. To that end, over the Alabama has undergone an unprecedented transformation, one that has touched all its facilities. This past academic year, two project were completed that paid immediate dividends - the complete renovation of the Sam Bailey Track and Field Stadium, which provides the Crimson Tide with a state-of-the-art training and competition facility and the completion of the new Strength and Conditioning complex which links the Mal M. Moore Athletic Facility with the Hank Crisp Indoor Facility and serves all 21 of Alabama sports. The new 37,000-square-foot strength and conditioning complex features a state-of-the-art performance nutrition center to fuel Alabama student-athletes, physicians’ offices and strength and conditioning offices.

BRYANT-DENNY STADIUM

With recent renovation projects of $47 and $65 million to renovate and expand the north and south end zones, Bryant-Denny Stadium is truly one of the top football facilities in the nation. The current seating capacity is 101,821 and makes Bryant-Denny Stadium one of the largest on-campus football stadiums in the nation. The most recent renovation not only pushed capacity to 101,821, but gave Bryant-Denny Stadium an additional 36 skyboxes and 1,700 club seats. The 2010 renovation marked the fourth expansion of this magnificent edifice since 1988 and the seventh time Bryant-Denny Stadium has been expanded since it was originally completed in 1929. Other expansions were completed in 1946, 1961, 1966, 1988, 1998 and 2006. The Tide beat Mississippi College, 55-0, in the first game played at Denny Stadium, named for UA President George Denny on September 28, 1929. The stadium was officially dedicated October 5, 1929, when the Tide beat Ole Miss, 22-7. The stadium was re-named Bryant-Denny Stadium, in honor of legendary coach Paul Bryant and Denny, on April 10, 1976, during the annual A-Day game. The renovations over the past decade included a plaza connecting the stadium with University Boulevard. The plaza, which quickly became a focal point on game-day Saturdays, honors Alabama’s national championship coaches and commemorates the Tide’s 15 national and 23 SEC titles. Alabama bettered its own record for the largest crowd to see a game in the state of Alabama when a sell-out crowd of 101,821 fans filled the seats in the Crimson Tide’s 2010 season opener against San Jose State. Going into the 2013 season, the Crimson Tide owns an impressive 225-52-3 (.809) all-time record at Bryant-Denny Stadium and a 312-65-3 (.825) mark in all games played in Tuscaloosa. Dating back to the 1988 renovation of Bryant-Denny Stadium, more than 14.2 million fans have witnessed the Crimson Tide play in 171 home games over the last 25 seasons.

ROADS STADIUM

The John and Ann Rhoads Softball Stadium was built in 2000 and recently received enhancements that make the nation’s most packed college softball venue an imposing site for visiting teams. That stadium, completed at a cost of $2.2 million, added right field tier seating to push stadium capacity past the 3,000 mark. The stadium was expanded for the third time in its short history following 2011 season, which brought the official capacity to 3,940. During the 2009 season, tier seating in the right field corner was added along with a standing room concourse area that includes tables and drink rails. After the completion of the 2010 season, construction began on an expanded clubhouse that will feature a new locker room, expanded training room and player’s lounge, a new team video room and lobby. The expanded clubhouse will connect to the new indoor practice facility that will include three batting cages and a bullpen.

SEWELL-THOMAS STADIUM

Sewell-Thomas Stadium is the home field of The University of Alabama baseball team. The stadium opened as Thomas Field on March 26, 1948, in honor of former Tide head coach Frank Thomas. The stadium originally had a seating capacity of 2,000. In 1978, the stadium was renamed Sewell-Thomas Stadium, adding the name of former UA baseball standout and head coach Joe Sewell, who spent 14 years with the Cleveland Indians and New York
Yankees during his Hall of Fame baseball career. Currently referred to by many as “The Joe”, Sewell-Thomas Stadium has been the home of Alabama’s baseball team for 62 years, but has undergone many changes. The complex has undergone two major renovations in 1996 and again in 2001. A video board was added in 2007. The most recent additions came during the 2010 season as the Crimson Tide clubhouse, meetings rooms, coaches locker rooms and team room were completely renovated, giving Alabama one of the finest clubhouses in college baseball. In addition to the expanded clubhouse, meeting rooms and team rooms, the hallways and walls are lined with murals, depicting the deep history of UA baseball.

COLEMAN COLISEUM
The center of much of University of Alabama campus life since the facility opened in 1968, Coleman Coliseum is home to Alabama men’s basketball. Opened on January 30, 1968, and originally named Memorial Coliseum, Coleman Coliseum has served as the home court of the Alabama basketball team for 42 years and the women’s gymnastics team since 1985. One of college basketball’s finest facilities then and now, the multi-purpose arena was ahead of its time when originally constructed at a cost of $4.2 million. The building occupies two acres of land with the roof reaching 90 feet above the competition surface and almost 100,000 square feet of space in the main seating area. The arena was re-dedicated in 1988 as Coleman Coliseum in honor of Jeff Coleman, a long-time Crimson Tide historian, business manager for athletics and alumni director that served on the committee that oversaw construction and planning of the Coliseum. The coliseum houses athletic department offices (except for football, swimming and diving, men’s and women’s tennis, women’s basketball and volleyball), the ticket and Tide Pride offices, a club level room (the Crimson Tide Room), a President’s reception area (the C.M. Newton Room), an auxiliary gymnasium, an equipment room, weight rooms, steam bath, training room, food service areas, photo studios, and locker room facilities for athletes and staff.

FOSTER AUDITORIUM
The University of Alabama Athletics Department renovated and expanded Foster Auditorium to create a new home for the Crimson Tide’s volleyball and women’s basketball programs, beginning in 2011. The remodel of Foster included refurbishing the arena portion of the building with new seating both on the floor level and the second level which overlooks the court, creating an impressive competitive atmosphere for both sports. The restoration of the venerable three-story building was completed in January of 2011 in time for the women’s basketball game between Alabama and Florida on Feb. 13, 2011, when the Tide defeated the Gators 64-59.

The renovation also included suites for both programs that house the teams’ locker rooms, team areas, meeting and video rooms and coaches’ offices. A weight room and athletics training facilities were also included in the project. Originally built in 1939, Foster Auditorium was named in 1942 for Richard Clarke Foster, president of The University of Alabama from 1937-41. It was the largest and most expensive of 14 buildings added to campus between 1936 and 1939 using funds from the Public Works Administration.

UA TENNIS STADIUM
Alabama tennis student-athletes have the privilege of playing in one of the finest facilities in the country as the Alabama Tennis Stadium was one of nine winners of the 25th Annual USTA Facility Awards Program. The outdoor complex, built in 2004, features 12 hard courts with overhead seating for 2,000 spectators that faces all courts. The $4.2 million facility houses a team lounge with a flat screen television and couches, a conference room, coaches’ offices, player locker rooms with private restrooms and showers, a full-service athletic training room and a concession stand with kitchen. In addition, the facility contains an elevator from the first level up to the seating area. Not only is this complex conducive to the highest level of competitive play, it is also a terrific place for hosting school and community tournaments, with amenities for spectators and visiting teams.

ROBERTA ALISON BAUMGARDNER TENNIS FACILITY
In 2012, the tennis complex expanded even more with the addition of the Roberta Alison Baumgardner Tennis Facility, which houses six indoor courts. Located adjacent to the outdoor stadium, the Roberta Alison Baumgardner Tennis Facility features a lobby, restrooms and overhead seating above the courts in addition to seating at court level. The addition of the indoor not only provides a facility for the teams to compete during inclement weather, but it also benefits Alabama when submitting bids to host events such as the NCAA Championship.

SAM BAILEY TRACK AND FIELD STADIUM
The Crimson Tide’s home track and field facility, named for legendary coach and administrator Sam Bailey, was rebuilt from the ground up prior to the 2013 season, utilizing every inch of the facility to give Alabama athletes everything they need to be successful at the highest level. The new design and layout ensures that the Sam Bailey Track & Field complex is one of the premier facilities in the nation. The new nine-lane track has a state of the art Beynon BSS -2000 track surface, which allows for a faster and more durable surface for both competition and training. The redesigned track gives Tide athletes a training and competition facility that is nearly identical to what they will see when they get to the championship season. The shot put throw area was relocated and redesigned at the west end of the track, outside of the oval, combining the landing pits to provide a more functional and efficient throws area. The infield was replaced with a new Tifway 419 hybrid Bermuda grass infield and provides the landing areas for the javelin, hammer throw and discus. The cages for the throw events have been strategically placed with both “D zone areas” to allow for better meet management. Timing locations have been added throughout the track area to allow for the use of the most current event timing techniques. The redesign also relocated and reconfigured the jumps area to make both training and competition more efficient. There are now two long jump runways, two pole vault runways, two high jump aprons. During the renovations, permanent lights were installed, giving the Tide far more flexibility when it comes to training and competition. In addition to the track renovations, the grandstand was upgraded with new seating and a complete renovation and expansion of the press box. A new entry plaza was also incorporated into the facility with displays to commemorate the history of Alabama track athletes, both in collegiate and Olympic competition. There is also a permanent awards area, created out of the same material as the track itself.

UA SOCCER STADIUM
The University of Alabama Soccer Stadium was built in 2004. It houses a team lounge complete with a flat-screen television and couches, a conference room, coaches’ offices, student-athlete locker rooms with private restrooms and showers, a full-service athletic training room and a concession stand with kitchen. In addition, the facility is equipped with a pair of locker rooms for visiting teams and officials. The outdoor complex features covered bench areas for both teams and a press box with seating for 1,500 spectators and standing room for many more.

DON GAMBRIL OLYMPIC POOL
The University of Alabama Olympic Pool at the Alabama Aquatic Center

The University of Alabama Olympic Pool at the Alabama Aquatic Center has, during the past 30 years, hosted more than 200 major competitions including seven Southeastern Conference Swimming & Diving Championships. The Crimson Tide has built an impressive reputation for winning in the Aquatic Center. Since the facility opened in 1981, the Crimson Tide men’s team has only lost a handful of home dual meets. Two of the three SEC Championships the Tide won in the decade of the 1980s (men’s titles in 1982 and 1987) were won in the Aquatic Center. The Tide is tough to beat at home - and the Aquatic Center is part of the reason why.

The impact and influence of athletics marketing has never been more evident than in the current era of Alabama athletics. Alabama’s passionate fan base has largely earned a national reputation for devotion based on its following of the Crimson Tide football team. In recent years, that devotion and passion has become evident across the board as the seven Alabama sports that require tickets for admission (football, men’s basketball, women’s basketball, baseball, softball, gymnastics and volleyball) sold more than 800,000 tickets, generating in excess of $33.7 million in ticket revenue during the 2012-13 athletic year.

The back-to-back national champion Crimson Tide football team saw 712,052 fans packed Bryant-Denny Stadium (capacity: 101,821). The gymnastics team averaged 13,422 fans per meet, which ranked the Tide second in the nation among all women’s collegiate programs. Alabama sold out Coleman Coliseum for its clash with SEC foe Kentucky on January 25, and posted a near-sellout of 14,570 on February 15, against in-state rival Auburn. Alabama’s softball team led the nation in attendance with a school and national record of 2,916 fans per game.

In its second season back in Foster Auditorium they volleyball team played in front of a record crowd of 1,670 vs. LSU. Soccer set its all time single-game attendance record against Maryland with 1,630 fans in the fall on the way to setting the single season total and average attendance marks at 6,148 and 799, respectively. The women’s tennis team was sixth in the national in overall attendance in 2012-13.

Alabama athletics events provide the Tuscaloosa community and the state at large with consistent family-friendly attractions. Sports events at the Capstone are known for their exciting atmosphere at affordable prices.

CRIMSON TIDE REWARDS PROGRAM
Completing its third year, the Crimson Tide Rewards program presented by Tuscaloosa Toyota allowed a record number of members the opportunity to win great prizes, including Alabama gear and exclusive fan experiences. Members earned points for each athletic event they attend.

ANNUAL REPORT 2012-2013

CRIMSON TIDE REWARDS PROGRAM

5TH GRADE FAST BREAK

The University of Alabama women’s basketball program, the Alabama Consortium for Educational Renewal (ACER), and the Tuscaloosa City and County elementary schools continued the partnership started in 2007-08 to provide athletically related educational initiatives for local 5th graders. The goal continues to be that the 5th Grade Fastbreak program be an annual event highlighted by the 5th Grade Fastbreak Game of the Year. The goal is to engage Tuscaloosa 5th graders in educational initiatives based on Alabama women’s basketball that will begin in the fall semester and continue through the women’s basketball season (November-March). This year, 2,184 5th graders and teachers filled Foster Auditorium.

POWER OF PINK

Alabama Athletics’ Power of Pink initiative, sponsored by Tuscaloosa Toyota, was started by Crimson Tide gymnastics coach Sarah Patterson in 2004 to raise awareness in the fight against breast cancer in the West Alabama community.

“I realize that I am very lucky,” Patterson said. “Not only to be healthy, but also that I have access to excellent medical care. Not everyone is so fortunate, and I wanted to do something that would help those who need it most.”

Within the UA athletics department the event has grown from gymnastics to other sports to the point where Alabama Athletics’ Power of Pink, sponsored by Tuscaloosa Toyota, has events three times a year, in the fall, in the winter and in the spring, hosted by the Tide’s women’s teams.

In the United States alone, a woman will be newly diagnosed with breast cancer every three minutes, and the odds of overcoming breast cancer are much higher if the disease is detected in the early stages, a fact that makes the Tide’s efforts even more vital.

The Alabama Athletics Power of Pink 2012-13 slate featured nine women’s athletics events, including volleyball, cross country, soccer and swimming and diving in the fall; basketball and gymnastics in the winter; and softball, tennis and rowing in the spring.

ALABAMA’S TRADEMARK LICENSING PROGRAM

In 1981, The University of Alabama created a licensing program to protect the marks and logos of the University and establish cooperative relationships with licensees and retailers to assist in the further development of a market for officially licensed products of The University of Alabama.

Licensing revenues are directed to The University of Alabama to support scholarship programs as well as operations in other University departments. Royalties are paid by more than 700 officially licensed manufacturers that produce products bearing the marks and logos of The University of Alabama. The licensing program promotes a mutually beneficial relationship between the University and its licensees.

Royalty income from the licensing program is directed to The University of Alabama’s Nation Merit Scholarships, the Paul W. Bryant Museum and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. Royalties are directed to The University of Alabama’s Nation Merit Scholarships, the Paul W. Bryant Museum and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. Royalties are directed to The University of Alabama’s Nation Merit Scholarships, the Paul W. Bryant Museum and the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Between July 1, 2012 and March 31, 2013, Alabama generated in excess of $8.4 million in gross royalties, an increase of 11-percent compared to the first nine months of the previous fiscal year. Alabama ranked second among all CLC institutions during the first quarter.

The Tide’s Back-to-Back National Champions program is the most successful in the history of collegiate athletics, generating the most royalties for this type of program. Alabama developed highly successful SEC Football Champions and NCAA Men’s Golf Champions programs.

That success followed a 2011-12 season that saw Alabama athletics produce the most royalties revenue in school history with more than $9 million in revenue, a total that ranked only behind Texas nationally.

In November 2012, The University of Alabama began its Crafter’s Licensing Program, offering crafters an opportunity to use Alabama’s trademarks through a license. The pioneering program already includes over 30 licensed crafters.
 Anything that happens in Alabama athletics is immediately newsworthy throughout the state, the South and the nation. The interest generated by Crimson Tide athletics teams provides immeasurable exposure for The University of Alabama as a whole while serving as a symbol of excellence for the state itself.

The staff works closely with Alabama’s athletics marketing department, Crimson Tide Productions, Crimson Tide Sports Marketing and the Crimson Tide Sports Network to ensure that an expansive mix of athletics events are available for viewing or listening by Alabama fans across Alabama, the nation and the world. The Athletics Communications office also serves as the backbone of the athletics department’s crisis response initiatives as the staff works with local, regional and national media outlets and journalists as part of its layered coverage efforts.

During the 2012-13 athletics year, the Department of Athletics Communications produced more than 1,000 news releases; arranged more than 1,200 interviews with news media; and provided daily strategic media advice for Alabama’s more than 600 student-athletes.

The official University of Alabama Athletics Department website, RollTide.com, features a number of different ways for fans to follow the Crimson Tide minute-to-minute. The website provides the most up-to-date information about Alabama athletics through press releases, game recaps, team statistics and coach and player interviews. Alabama also provides mobile device applications, for both iPhone and Android phones, allowing fans to have access to information about the Tide at their fingertips.

The latest redesign of RollTide.com, the official website of The University of Alabama Athletics Department, was unveiled in June of 2013. The new-look site was streamlined for easier navigation and access to the information and features Crimson Tide fans are looking for. The window to the world for Alabama Athletics, the front page of RollTide.com now features a calendar that provides an at-a-glance look of recent and upcoming Tide events as well as links to more in-depth information about those events that includes radio and television information, live statistics and preview links as well as recaps and stats.

The site’s retooled menu structure makes it easier than ever to move within the site, with links to each individual sport’s roster, schedule, ticket information, Twitter and Facebook feeds all available from the top navigation bar on every page of the site.

The site also makes getting the latest officially licensed Crimson Tide gear easier than ever with links to the online store as well as the Crimson Tide’s photo store.

The redesign has been structured in such a way to put the Tide’s teams, student-athletes, coaches and championship tradition front and center in an online environment that provides fans with a treasure trove of Alabama-centric information, news, videos and photos.

RollTide.com ranked as one of the top athletic websites in the country in viewership. Through one of the most successful seasons in school history, with the Crimson Tide earning two more national titles, the UA athletics website generated more than 36 million page impressions, while producing more than 8.5 million unique browser impressions.

During the 2012-13 academic year, RollTide.com ranked No. 1 nationally in online store revenue and in the top five in total page views, unique visitors, mobile application downloads, all-access revenue and mobile traffic among CBSSports.com college network partners.

Additionally, Alabama produced a total of 1,410 videos of original content in 2012-13, giving fans access to interviews with coach and players that would not otherwise be available.
In a year that saw The University of Alabama athletics department win two national team titles and place seven teams in the top-12 nationally, the Crimson Tide once again fared well in the total sports rankings.

The Alabama men finished sixth in the Capital One Cup while the combined men’s and women’s program finished 26th in the 2012-13 Learfield Sports Directors’ Cup Division I standings.

In both rankings, Alabama was paced by its football team - winner of three BCS National Championships in the last four years - in the fall, its men’s golf team - winner of its first NCAA Championship in 2013 - in the spring, and its gymnastics team - which posted its fifth top-three finish in a row in 2013 – in the winter.

CAPITAL ONE CUP
In the Capital One Cup, Alabama’s men - paced by national championships in football and men’s golf - finished sixth after scoring 80 points overall, just two points behind fifth-place Duke. UCLA won the Men’s Cup with 92 points while North Carolina won the women’s side with 140 points. Alabama finished 36th in the Women’s Capital One Cup.

The Capital One Cup only counts top-10 national finishes and uses a tiered points system. In the Men’s Capital One Cup, Alabama was one of three SEC teams to finish in the top 10.

In the three year-history of the Capital One Cup, Alabama’s men have posted back-to-back sixth place finishes, while the women were third in 2011-12 after winning three NCAA Championships in the spring and 18th in 2010-11.

LEARFIELD SPORTS DIRECTOR’S CUP
In the Learfield Sports Director’s Cup, Alabama scored 740.50 points overall, including 100 points each for its national champion football and men’s golf teams. The Tide was 51st in the Directors’ Cup after the winter sports were tallied, but used another strong spring – which included the men’s golf title as well as top-10 finishes by the women’s golf and softball teams and 11th place finishes by the women’s tennis and men’s track and field teams – to jump 25 places in the final standings.

In the Directors’ Cup, 20 total teams can be scored for the final standings, 10 men and 10 women. Alabama has 21 sports, nine men and 12 women. By way of comparison, Stanford, winner of the last 19 Directors’ Cups, has 37 sports.

The Tide was one of seven Southeastern Conference teams to finish in the top 50 in the final Learfield Sports Directors’ Cup standings, and was less than 10 points out of 25th place.

Over the past 20 years, Alabama has posted a dozen top-30 finishes in the Directors’ Cup, including the last six years in a row.
The days of women's sports at The University of Alabama began in 1974, when five sports were added to the varsity list. The first women's sports to take place on the Tuscaloosa campus were women's basketball, women's golf, women's gymnastics, women's swimming and diving and women's volleyball, competing for the first time during the 1974-75 academic year.

Women's tennis joined the department in 1975, before women's cross country and women's indoor and outdoor track and field were added prior to the 1977-78 school year. Women's soccer was added in 1982, but was dropped as a varsity sport in 1989, before being reinstated in 1994. Women's volleyball also took a brief break from varsity competition when it was dropped as a varsity sport in 1982, before being reinstated in 1989. Softball was the 11th women's sport added to the UA varsity platform prior to the 1995-96 school year, making its first appearance in the spring of 1996.

The most recent addition to the Alabama athletics department belongs to the Rowing team when it was added in 2006-07. Prior to beginning its seventh season as a varsity sport in 2011-12, the rowing program received funding for the full allotment of 20 scholarships by the institution. With rowing reaching fully funded status, all 21 varsity sports at Alabama are fully funded in athletics scholarships, based on the maximum allowed by NCAA rules.

With 12 women's varsity teams at Alabama, the University had 258 female student-athletes competing for the school during the 2012-13 academic year. To complement the participation of women's sports, Alabama provides 185 athletic scholarships to its female student-athletes.

The University of Alabama is in the midst of an unprecedented era of success, one that includes eight national championships from 2009-2013, half of which came from the Crimson Tide women. In 2011-12 alone – during which the University won four national championships, the most of any NCAA Division I school – three of those four were won by women's teams. The Alabama gymnastics team captured its second NCAA title in a row and sixth overall. The Alabama women's golf team became the first program at the Capstone outside of football and gymnastics to win a national title. After making the Women's College World Series for the eighth time in 2012, the Tide softball team to the school's first national title in the sport.

Alabama's women continued to roll in 2012-13, producing a trio of top-10 finishes, including a third place finish by the gymnastics team in head coach Sarah Patterson's 35th season at the Capstone, a Southeastern Conference title from the women's golf team in addition to a seventh place national finish and another NCAA Regional title for the softball team and a 10th place national finish. Other highlights include the Alabama women's tennis team winning its first regional championship and advancing to the NCAA Championship Round of 16 for the first time in school history. The Tide finished the year ranked just out of the top 10 at No. 11, Alabama's highest end of the year ranking in school history.
Attendance has continued to grow for a number of women’s sports at the University. This past season, the women’s gymnastics team averaged crowds of more than 13,000 in five regular season competitions at Coleman Coliseum as well as posting the highest attendance at any of the nation’s six regional competitions. The average attendance of 13,422 marked the second highest national total in gymnastics, and third highest among women’s collegiate sports during the 2012-13 year.

The softball program led the country once again in total attendance, marking the sixth straight season that Alabama has led the country. Additionally, UA set a new NCAA record for total attendance, as 93,332 fans passed through the gates at Rhoads Stadium, to average 2,916 fans per game.

The 2012-13 season marked the second full season that women’s volleyball and women’s basketball played in Foster Auditorium. The facility was renovated to provide the two programs a state-of-the-art facility that houses the practice and competition court, team locker rooms, athletic training facilities and weight rooms, as well as coach’s offices and a team video room. Under head coach Ed Allen, the women’s volleyball team returned to Foster Auditorium for the first time since the 1995 fall, while the women’s basketball team reopened Foster Auditorium on Feb. 13, 2011, with a 64-59 win over Florida.

She also took second at the NCAA Championships on the floor exercise after winning that event at the Southeastern Conference and NCAA Regional championships earlier in the season. A two-time Scholastic All-American and three-year member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, Milliner also earned First Team All-SEC honors in 2013.

ALEXIS PAINE – TRACK AND FIELD

Alexis Paine closed out her senior season with a flourish, earning first team All-American in the pole vault during the indoor and outdoor seasons. In addition to breaking the school indoor and outdoor pole vault records multiple times during the 2012-13 season, she finished the year with every spot on the Tide’s all-time top-10 list both indoors and outdoors.

ANNUAL REPORT 2012-2013
In the 1920s, President George “Mike” Denny felt strongly that a nationally recognized football program would pay immeasurable dividends in elevating the image and prestige of The University of Alabama.

Rose Bowl trips after the 1925 and 1926 seasons generated the type of response Denny yearned for and it added money to athletics department coffers as well. With payoffs from the bowls, plans were made to build an on-campus stadium. In 1929, Denny Stadium, a state-of-the-art facility with 12,000 seats, opened on the Tuscaloosa campus.

As the years passed and success in football added more gridiron legends to Crimson Tide lore, the demands for a larger football stadium became obvious. Building upon the 12,000-seat structure, Bryant-Denny Stadium today has a capacity of 101,821. Through decades of excellence, the overall athletic department grew from supporting four men’s sports teams into a multi-faceted athletics program sustaining 21 teams in both men’s and women’s sports.

Chancellor Robert Witt, during his previous tenure as president, embraced the Denny vision, supporting the athletic department with a keen understanding that a powerful program only enhances the overall goal of making the University foremost in education with the finest academic and student facilities possible.

“The commitment to improving all athletic facilities is a never-ending process,” said former UA Director of Athletics Mal Moore, who spearheaded the task of providing student-athletes with the best possible venues to compete in the nation’s most difficult conference.

Prior to 2002, the athletics department had never raised funds through donors to maintain and build new facilities or to endow scholarships. That changed with the implementation of the Crimson Tide Foundation. Three years later, the Crimson Tide Foundation was established to help ensure that the University maintains the level of excellence expected by its supporters for years to come. Since its inception, the Crimson Tide Foundation has raised approximately $152 million through gifts and pledges. More than 2,600 separate gifts totaling approximately $16.3 million was raised during the 2012-13 fiscal year.

The athletics department at The University of Alabama is self-supporting; all private gifts contribute directly to the needs of our student-athletes, coaches and staff. University of Alabama Athletics receives no funding from the State of Alabama. All gifts to the Crimson Tide Foundation are applied solely to the athletics department needs.
MISSION
The Crimson Tide Foundation was established in February 2005 to benefit The University of Alabama’s athletics department. Its purpose is to promote and encourage a continuing interest in, and loyalty to, the intercollegiate athletics programs at The University of Alabama; to support the staff of the University’s Department of Athletics in their efforts to coordinate, develop, maintain and improve a superior intercollegiate athletics program at the University.

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES
The Crimson Tide Foundation provides a venue through which loyal alumni, fans and friends can give financial support to the Athletic Department, while capturing all the current tax benefits allowed by the Internal Revenue Service. Private support enables UA Athletics to increase its standing, in both athletics and academics, over competing universities beyond what can be accomplished with annual revenue from ticket sales, media rights and other licensing agreements.

FACILITIES/CAPITAL PROJECTS
UA Athletics is committed to providing first-class facilities for all 21 varsity sports. In an era when every college and university is striving to recruit elite student-athletes and coaches to provide the most competitive programs in the country, facilities have become an even more important component of winning; and for our fans, provides them with an unmatched game day experience that all can enjoy. Building and maintaining outstanding facilities – from playing and practice fields to the space surrounding them – is integral to attracting and retaining top-tier talent. Throughout the last decade, athletics facility improvements on campus have been substantial, as evidenced by the recent expansion of Bryant-Denny Stadium, the new men’s and women’s tennis stadium, the John and Ann Rhoads Softball Stadium, the women’s soccer stadium, the Jerry Pate Golf Center, renovations to Coleman Coliseum, and the Roberta Alison Baumgartner Indoor Tennis Facility. During the past year facilities and projects that were completed included a new weight room for all student athletes which includes a state-of-the-art nutrition area and a complete renovation of the Sam Bailey Track Stadium. The summer of 2013 will see the completion of the Sarah Patterson Champions Plaza. Future projects include construction of a new rowing boathouse. Athletic administration is constantly assessing our facilities in order to provide the best venues for our student athletes to train and compete. Private giving through the Crimson Tide Foundation will be pivotal for the success of each of our future projects.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ENDOWMENTS
UA Athletics is committed to offering the full number of scholarships authorized by the NCAA to our more than 650 student-athletes. Each year, mounting tuition and housing costs place greater pressures on the athletics department. UA Athletics currently funds approximately $14.5 million annually for student-athlete scholarships in 21 varsity sports. However, the cost of tuition continues to rise dramatically. Keeping pace with the increasing scholarship costs is critical to remaining competitive on a national level. In such a climate, private giving in the area of scholarship support is one of our highest priorities. Donors interested in supporting UA athletic scholarships may do so in two ways:

ESTABLISHING A NEW SCHOLARSHIP OR GIVING TO AN EXISTING SCHOLARSHIP
Endowments are gifts that keep on giving. Endowments are permanently invested by The University of Alabama and generate earnings and interest for the purpose you choose to support scholarships, coaches, facility maintenance, sport-specific program support, and much more. The goal of fully endowing the scholarship program is a top priority of the Crimson Tide Foundation. A gift to the endowment program is invested into a pool of funds managed by the University. A portion of the earnings from the investment provides annual scholarship support. The remaining earnings are reinvested to grow the endowment and to provide scholarship and other program support in perpetuity. Endowed scholarships cover tuition, educational fees, books, and room and board for our student-athletes. Other endowments may be specified for teams, individual positions, coaching positions, facility maintenance or general program support.

GIVING TO THE CRIMSON TIDE SCHOLARSHIP FUND (ANNUAL FUND)
The Crimson Tide Scholarship Fund provides UA Athletics with annual scholarship support. UA Athletics currently funds student-athlete scholarships primarily from revenue associated with ticket sales, sales of licensed merchandise, television contracts, and other event-driven revenue. Private funding of scholarships is necessary to provide our student-athletes with the best opportunities for learning and personal growth at The University of Alabama. For every dollar contributed to this fund, UA Athletics is able to direct revenue to other priority areas of need for the Department to maximize our competitive advantage with rivals both on and off the playing field.
